Civil Rights Groups Say Smith Act Illegal

By Art Shields

The witch-hunting indictments against the 12 Communist leaders were denounced yesterday as hysterical violations of the free-speech clause of the United States Constitution by the National Lawyers Guild and the American Civil Liberties Union, as well as by the attorneys for the defendants themselves.

The National Lawyers Guild and the American Civil Liberties Union appeared before U. S. District Court Judge Murray Hulbert as amici curiae or friends of the court.

"These indictments," said a brief presented by the National Lawyers Guild, "are part of the ominous pattern that has come to threaten the entire Bill of Rights."

"They are a direct outcome of the anti-Communist hysteria, spy hunts, etc., that daily fill the press and every other channel of public information. . . .

"We respectfully urge this Court to assert the judicial integrity of our Constitutional system by dismissing these indictments as the clearest violation of the First Amendment."

The Guild's brief, which speaks for many liberal American lawyers, was presented by Attorneys Arthur S. Silberman and Robert J. Silberman.

The American Civil Liberties Union's brief, which also blasted the unconstitutionality of the indictments in strong terms, was presented by Attorney Osmond K. Fraenkel, well known constitutional lawyer, and author of the most definitive legal history of the Sacco-Vanzetti frame-up, and Attorneys Edward Ennis and Raymond S. Wise.

Attorneys for William Z. Foster, Eugene Dennis and the other 10 defendants, continued the attack on the Gov-

Washington State CIO Supports '12'

SEATTLE, Oct. 7.—Delegates to a three-day convention of the Washington State CIO at West Kelso, Wash., voted unanimously to condemn the indictment of 12 Communist Party leaders. The action was incorporated in a detailed civil liberties resolution which termed the indictments, the deportation drive and other witch-hunt manifestations "a dangerous invasion of the fundamental liberties of all people."

Sixty-six of the 74 delegates present introduced the resolution, and some 40 signed up as members of the Civil Rights Council in the state. The state leadership of the Progressive Party has also condemned the indictments.

The Northwest District of the Communist Party reported that 20,000 copies of a leaflet protesting the indictments and 50,000 copies of Eugene Dennis' Madison Square Garden speech have been distributed, as well as thousands of section and club leaflets on the frame-up.

3 ALP Men to See Clark to Defend 12

Three Bronx American Labor Party congressional candidates will meet in Washington today with representatives of Attorney General Tom Clark to protest the indictment of 12 Communist Party leaders.

Picket lines around the Federal Building on Monday and Tuesday denounced the indictment.

On Oct. 15, a Seattle broadcast—which can be heard throughout most of the state—will deal with the frame-up. Open branch meetings are being arranged for the occasion.

Henry Huff, Northwest District organizer, declared that the Communist Party is also working to help the Civil Rights Congress raise funds for the defense of the indicted 12.

U.S. State Dep't Double-Talks on Bid to Franco

By Rob F. Hall

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 7.—The U. S. State Department today gave every evidence of being in full retreat on the issue of recognizing Franco, but there was some speculation that the retreat was more apparent than real.

The "evidence" of retreat was the fact that Michael J. McDermott, press officer for the department, dusted off and distributed among newsmen an old policy statement on Spain issued in March, 1946. In contrast to the current campaign led by James A. Farley, Democratic bigwig, and Sen. Chan Gurney (R-SD) for financial help to the Spanish dictator, the 1946 pronouncement said the "Spanish people cannot anticipate full cordial association" with other nations until Franco is unseated and the Fascist Falange abolished. This statement urged "leading, patriotic, liberal-minded" Spaniards to establish an interim government.

DON'T DENY TALKS

The reason this statement puzzled many observers was that no longer ago than yesterday, there were presumably reliable reports from Paris that Secretary of State Marshall had urged the British and French Foreign Ministers to join him in a move to restore Franco to the good graces of the United Nations. Although this report was later spiked by Marshall, it was not denied that discussions had been held among the western powers on the feasibility of rescinding the anti-Franco resolution adopted by (Continued on Page 11)

House Inquisitor Feted in Turkey

Daily Worker Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Rep. Wingate H. Lucas (D-Tex.), of the two inquisitors in the House Labor Committee's recent investigation of the CIO Fur Workers, is being treated royally by the Turkish government.

Lucas, in Turkey with three other congressmen, all from poll-tax states, is "obtaining first hand information on the application of the Marshall plan," the Turkish government announced today.

Point of Order

By ALAN MAX

OUR State Department, which has been snuggling up to Franco, says that he must "clean house." Do they mean Franco must fire some Communists?

An Amazing Story

DOWN at Foley Square New York City there was unfolded yesterday one of the most amazing stories of political frame-up ever seen. And that includes such frame-ups as the Haymarket Case, the Tom Mooney Case, and the Sacco-Vanzetti legal lynching.

The story was told by the defense lawyers of the 12 Communist Party leaders. They face 10 years in jail on the charge that they believe in Marxism-Leninism and "advocate force and violence to overthrow the Government." The Smith Act of 1940 makes such advocacy a crime punishable by 10 years.

For 30 years, not a single act of force and violence has ever been attributed or could be attributed to the Communist movement for Socialism in the USA. From 1919 to 1928, though hated and feared by Big Business, the charge of "force and violence" was such an obvious absurdity that even the Party's worst enemies dared not try to sell such a charge anywhere where the laws of evidence had to be observed.

As recently as Feb. 5, 1948—nine months ago—Attorney General Tom Clark had to confess to the House Un-American Committee that no evidence existed for such a charge. The Un-American Committee demanded indictments without regard to existing laws of evidence. Clark said he had a better way to "get" the Communists. He hinted at "espionage" charges.

But, after a tremendous newspaper hysteria about "spies," the Department of Justice confessed recently that there was no evidence.

MEANWHILE, a New York Grand Jury had met for 13 months—from June 1947 to July 1948—without being able to get the slightest evidence on which to base an indictment for "espionage" or for "force and violence."

But immense pressure was exerted on this grand jury not to adjourn its hearings, as originally planned, on July 1, 1948. Newspaper stories were "leaked" to hint that the Grand Jury would itself be guilty of a crime if it did not hand down an indictment. GOP papers said Truman was "blocking" the indictments. The Truman Administration rushed to disprove the charge. It demanded new hearings of the Grand Jury. Out of these new hearings—after 13 months of testimony yielded nothing but stonypigeon falsehoods—there came the indictment of the 12 Communist Party leaders.

Rarely has there been so clear a case of political pressure, political persecution, and political frame-up to provide a scapegoat for the 1948 elections!

The Communists' defense has unmasked this kind of extra-legal persecution which will menace every American if it is not stopped. The demand of the Communists' defense for postponement and dismissal of the charges should be backed by every democracy-loving citizen. Rush your funds to the defense at 35 East 12 St., New York, or the Civil Rights Congress, 205 East 42 St., N. Y. City.

Small Nations Snag U.S. Atombomb Plan

PARIS, Oct. 7.—A revolt of small nations forced the United States government to abandon its attempt to ram its A-bomb plan through the United Nations Political Committee.

The UN political committee, on which all 58 member nations are represented, voted 47 to 0 to create a sub-committee of 11 countries to study the possibility of an atomic energy agreement. The sub-committee is to study all of the various proposals which have been submitted on the control problem and draft a resolution for approval by the full political committee.

The United States consented to the resolution for a new study of atomic energy control when it became apparent the small nations in the UN would defeat the proposal of Canada that all negotiations be suspended and that the Assembly be asked to approve the United States plan.

Nations on the sub-committee to which the committee finally agreed are United States, Canada, Great Britain, France, Russia, China, Brazil, Ecuador, India, Sweden and Ukraine.

TALKS ON DISARMAMENT

The Soviet Union's chief delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky, opening the fight in the political committee on the Russian disarmament proposal, said:

"In the Pentagon building in Washington there are people who are men of action, of military trade, who are preparing a new war, working out plans for 50 years ahead."

Accusing the United States of seeking world domination by means of a monopoly on the atomic bomb, Vishinsky declared:

"Those who do not want to spread mastery over foreign territory do not need to clutch this weapon for attack."

He charged the United States with forming blocs against Russia and with leading an armaments race.

"This is a mad armaments race," he said. "This is a mad systematic increase in military appropriations and everyone knows the burden falls on millions of working people in the United States."

Hector McNeill, of Great Britain, sought to minimize the Soviet plan, telling the UN to "look this particular Russian gift horse" of a disarmament plan "very carefully in the mouth." McNeill said it was unrealistic propaganda.

Tragedy Averted: What might have been a serious accident was averted when this runaway truck, filled with gasoline, mounted a sidewalk and was halted by a lamppost and a parked automobile. Two women were slightly injured.

GOP, Dems Play Politics In UN at Israel Expense

By Joseph Starobin

PARIS (By Mail).

THE UN ASSEMBLY is becoming the scene for some of the nastiest Republican and Democratic electoral politics, at the expense of Israel, it is felt here in many quarters. The attempt to keep Israel in a state of suspended warfare, with the bludgeon of the Bernadotte plan over its head, while the game of catching American Jewish votes goes on until November, is even more obvious from this distance than it may be at home. And many delegates, including Israeli spokesmen here, don't like it a bit. It looks particularly ghoulish on the Jewish New Year, Rosh Hashonah.

The latest maneuver, of course, giving the game away completely, came when John Foster Dulles, Republican member of the U. S. delegation, let it be known through the N. Y. Times last Friday that he does not consider the GOP bound by the Bernadotte plan. Only two weeks before, on Sept. 24, when Secretary Marshall endorsed the plan to gerrymander and smother the new Jewish state, there was not a breath of doubt that he spoke for the entire American delegation.

But the heat has clearly been so terrific at home, and exposed the administration so plainly that Dulles figures it would be the best thing for Dewey to make partisan use of this anger, and pose as a friend of Israel.

When it suits the Republicans they identify themselves as bi-partisan authors of American policy; when that begins to hurt them, they disavow their own responsibility and try to hide it.

MEANWHILE, the story is making the rounds here that when Marshall addressed the Assembly and tried to stampede the UN into support for the late Count Bernadotte's proposals, he had not consulted President Truman. Thus, the ground is being laid for another disavowal by the Democratic Presidency-hunter.

In this way, both parties are trying to keep the hot potato in the air, though they both had a share (Continued on Page 8)

Jimcrow Union Head Appointed To 'End' Bias

Daily Worker Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 7.—The Civil Service Commission today appointed a seven-man Advisory Fair Employment Practices Board to deal with widespread cases of discrimination in Federal agencies.

Six of the seven are former Federal employees. The chairman, Guy Moffett, is a former Civil Service Commissioner. Daniel W. Tracy, one-time Assistant Secretary of Labor, is president of the lily-white Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, AFL.

Two members of the board are Negroes. One of them, Jesse H. Mitchell, president of the Industrial Bank of Washington, broke a strike of bank tellers and clerks, who were CIO Office Union members. The second, Eugene Jones, is a former executive secretary of the National Urban League.

Facing the board are numerous cases of discrimination against Negro government workers in numerous Federal departments and bureaus and in Panama. The cases were presented to the Civil Service Commission several weeks ago by the CIO United Public Workers.

The UPW declared that eight government bureaus are fostering a Jimcrow personnel system in "open defiance" of the Fair Employment Practices order issued by President Truman July 26.

The union declared that Truman's order would be "an empty gesture" unless the board was independent of the Civil Service Commission and unless it had real authority.

Queens CP to Broadcast on WWRL

The Queens Communist Party announced that the last four broadcasts of its election series will be over Station WWRL, 1600 on the dial. The broadcasts are sponsored by the New York State Election Campaign Committee of the Communist Party.

The broadcasts will occur this Tuesday, 10:15 to 10:30 p. m. on "Wall Street Is the Criminal"; Tuesday, Oct. 19, 10:15 to 10:30 p. m., "A Lynch Tree Grows in Your Backyard"; Tuesday, Oct. 26, 10:15 to 10:45 p. m., "Young People Are in Danger and the Berlin Crisis"; and Friday, Oct. 29, 10:15 to 10:45 p. m., "The Trusts Are Picking Your Pocket." Organization of radio listening-in parties was urged.

EN ROUTE WITH WALLACE IN SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—As Henry A. Wallace left the San Francisco Bay area by chartered plane today for Portland and the Pacific Northwest, he made his strongest bid to date for the support of organized labor. In a fighting speech last night, to a crowd of 9,000 at Civic Auditorium, Wallace condemned the maritime and oil interests for ganging up to break the back of organized labor on the west coast.

The Civic Auditorium meeting, one of the largest and most enthusiastic of Wallace's national campaign trip, climaxed the two-day visit of the Progressive Party's Presidential candidate to the Bay area.

Harry Bridges, president of the CIO Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, denounced both President Truman and Thomas E. Dewey for ducking the maritime strike issues, and to rousing cheers from the audience paid a stirring tribute to Wallace.

Shortly after Bridges spoke, more than 1,000 longshoremen who had just attended a strike meeting walked into the auditorium.

Waterfront strikers were admitted to the meeting free, but many, although they hadn't received a pay check for a month, contributed generously to the collection.

Contributions of canned goods from members of the audience and of several cases of eggs from Sonoma County farmers were made to the waterfront strikers.

Earlier in the day Wallace toured the city, speaking to several waterfront meetings and to an open air mass meeting in the Fillmore area.

Wallace complimented the waterfront workers for the unity of five separate unions, and expressed the hope that this would spread until all-inclusive labor unity becomes a fact.

Hits Truman, Dewey Aid to Power Trust

EN ROUTE WITH HENRY WALLACE IN PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 7.—Henry A. Wallace was 60 years old today. He spent the day in the Bonneville Dam country, charging both Truman and Dewey with "shadow boxing" on the public power issue.

Wallace said Truman's "voice was feeble when hatchet men like Rep. Taber of New York cut the appropriation for Bonneville in half."

"It is not enough to oppose the House of Representatives," said Wallace. "The President of the

Special to the Daily Worker

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Oct. 7.—An audience of 850 last night paid admissions of 60 cents and $1.20 and cheered Senator Glen Taylor's attack on the bi-partisan war policy.

"Dewey," said Taylor, "preaches national unity. He means unity behind the policies of Dulles, Forrestal and Draper. I call all Americans to repudiate those scoundrels and unite behind a man of peace, Henry Wallace."

The meeting also heard indictments of the Kersten union-busting committee by Leo Jandreau, business agent of the Local 301 of the United Electrical Workers, and Albert Fitzgerald, UE president.

Andrew Peterson, president of Local 301 of UE and candidate for Congress said, "I want to thank the ALP for its liberal policy in supporting candidates such as Democrats like myself who are working for a return to the policies of FDR."

Dr. Walter Gross, candidate for State Senate, declared, "I have been a Democrat all my life. Truman and the evil men behind him have destroyed my Democratic Party. It is with deep pride that I wish to announce tonight that I have decided to change my enrollment, to join the American labor party under the leadership of Henry Wallace and Glen Taylor."

Taylor's speech in Schenectady was preceded by a luncheon in Albany and a jammed enthusiastic mass meeting in Gloversville.

A group calling itself "Red-Baiters, Inc.," today distributed leaflets which printed the names and addresses of more than 200 alleged Communists.

ALP Urges Vets to Protest Leniency for 17 Nazi Killers

Ex-GIs and their families were urged to protest to President Truman against clemency for 17 Nazi criminals who murdered American soldiers in the Battle of the Bulge, the state headquarters of the American Labor Party announced yesterday. The ALP said it would use 1944 and 1945 war voter lists of veterans to reach the ex-GIs.

The ALP protest declared: "Army Secretary Royall is concealing from the American people wholesale reduction of sentences by the War Crimes Board of Review. Operating in a joint plan, the U. S. Army Public Relations Office, the Judge-Advocate General's office of European Command Headquarters, and Mr. Royall are carrying out a policy of turning Nazi war criminals loose, under cover of a conspiracy of silence.

"News of the Ise Koch commutation was withheld for several months. The American people are being treated with contempt while Nazi torturers are being embraced and welcomed into the ranks of those who are fomenting war. "Franco, Ise Koch, Nazi war criminals—these are the necessary instruments to carry out the bi-partisan drive toward war. These are the logical allies being courted by President Truman and the Dulles-Marshall clique."

• Revoke the Ise Koch commutation and reject the clemency recommendation for the 17 Nazi war criminals in the Battle of the Bulge case.

• A full report on the recommendations of the War Crimes Board of Review be made public so that the American people can get the full story of Nazi coddling.

PONTIAC, Mich., Oct. 7 (UP).—A former CIO United Auto Workers official will be charged tomorrow with shooting UAW president Walter P. Reuther, Wayne County Prosecutor James N. McNally said today.

Carl Bolton, 39, former vice-president of UAW Ford Local 400, will be charged with two other unnamed persons in a warrant McNally will ask in Detroit Recorder's Court.

Request for the warrant climaxed a five-month-old investigation into the attempted assassination of the union chieftain on the night of April 26. Reuther was seriously wounded by a shotgun blast in his right arm.

Bolton currently is in Oakland county jail waiting trial on a charge of robbing a UAW cooperative store.

Bolton was fingered by John Miller of Detroit, who is in jail here charged with a burglary. He told police Bolton offered him and another man $15,000 to "bump off Reuther."

The General Labor Federation is demanding a new monthly minimum wage of $47 for all workers.

CALL SHIP STOPPAGE

Merchant seamen in all French ports, in support of the coal miners, called a 24-hour "warning" stoppage for tomorrow. Dock strikes continued at Marseille, Brest and Algiers.

Foster Tells Court How Jury Was Coerced

Below are printed excerpts from the affidavit of William Z. Foster, National Chairman of the Communist Party, based on which the attorneys for the indicted 12 Communist leaders moved in the United States District Court yesterday to have the indictment dismissed before coming to trial.

"... The defense asserts that no legal evidence was or could have been presented to the Grand Jury in support of the indictments herein. The Communist Party does not, directly or indirectly, teach or advocate and never has taught or advocated the overthrow and destruction of the United States by force and violence. The defendants herein have never taught or advocated, nor have they conspired to teach or advocate the overthrow or destruction of the Government of the United States by force and violence.

"The Communist Party is a lawful political party. Since its inception, it has offered its policies and program to the people and the electorate for their consideration. It has, and does, actively engage in political campaigns, and run candidates for office. One of the defendants here is a duly elected member of the City Council of the City of New York, the sole local legislative body responsible for the property and affairs of eight million inhabitants.

"The defendants are prepared to show that the Grand Jury process has been subverted by officials of government and other persons and groups in order to destroy the Communist Party and thus prevent it from submitting its program and policies to the American people.

"The defendants are prepared to show that the Grand Jury here was used as a device wherein the two major political parties jockeyed for a favorable position in a heated election campaign, with the Communist Party, strongly opposed to the 'bi-partisan' international and domestic policies of both parties, the victim of these maneuverings.

"The defendants are prepared to show that the Grand Jury here was used simply as a political tool, by carefully engendered pressure and influence, to return some indictment against the Communist Party. The defendants assert that no such indictments against the Communist Party or its leaders herein would have been returned if this unlawful influence and pressure had not been exercised.

"The defendants submit that under such circumstances it would be a gross miscarriage of justice and a violation of fundamental rights if they were compelled to stand trial upon these purported indictments so illegally and unlawfully returned. . . .

COMMON KNOWLEDGE

"At the very outset, we ask the Court to observe this most unusual circumstance, that the deliberations of this Grand Jury were in no way secret; that the nature of its deliberations were a matter of common knowledge; and that apparently the information which consistently 'leaked out' throughout the 13 months period came from official sources. This alone would be a matter of serious concern, casting doubt on the validity of the indictments, even if the purpose of the said 'leaks' were not so clearly apparent. . . .

"It must also be recalled that this clamor and pressure was being exerted at a time when the leaders of both political parties and officials of government were vying with each other in efforts to suppress the Communist Party and to deny to its members, as well as a large portion of the American people, the right to think and speak freely. 'Loyalty' purges in the government service were in full swing. Screaming headlines reported almost each day news of another head that had fallen.

"The House Committee on Un-American Activities was conducting its investigations into 'subversive' and 'Un-American' propaganda under the glare of television lights, with radio, newsreel and press occupying more than half of the hearing room. Contempt actions were constantly threatened. Artists, scientists, trade unionists, scholars—all found their pictures in the press described as 'spies,' 'foreign agents,' and 'subversive.' Fear on the part of citizens that non-conformity would be equated to disloyalty rapidly increased. Mr. Bert Andrews, correspondent for the Herald Tribune and Pulitzer prize winner, stated in his book Washington Witch Hunt (Random House, N. Y. 1948), quoting Elmer

STATE C. P. BACKS FORMATION OF DAILY WORKER BRIGADE

The New York State Committee of the Communist Party yesterday hailed the Daily Worker's announcement of the formation of the "Daily Worker Builders" to help increase circulation.

William Norman, state secretary, declared for the party committee, "we wholeheartedly endorse Daily Worker editor John Gates' proposal."

Norman said the state committee "strongly urges those readers who are members and friends of the Communist Party to enroll in the Daily Worker Builders." Arrangements have been made, he said, "to conduct an enrollment through party clubs next Friday."

The party leader noted that on the same day, Oct. 15, "another Hitlerite trick comes out of the bi-partisan bag" with the beginning of the frameup trial of 12 Communist national board members.

"We can mobilize mass democratic sentiment for the dismissal of the indictments through the use of the Daily Worker," Norman declared. "We can make our maximum contribution during the final weeks of the election campaign and we can win new members to the Communist Party—by winning new readers to the Daily Worker."

42 Pickets for ILG Arrested

Forty-two members of the AFL Seafarers International Union, who have been picketing scab garment shops, were picked up by police yesterday on orders of Assistant District Attorney Vincent T. Scotti, chief of the rackets bureau. SIU members have been employed to assist the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, whose leaders and members were recently slugged by unidentified thugs.

The district attorney's office has been reported as investigating the charge of gangsterism being revived by scab operators. Scotti, however, instructed police to pick up any of the white-capped ISU members found picketing in the garment district.

LIFE OF THE PARTY

Colorado -- Testing Ground In New Plot to Outlaw CP

By Elizabeth Gurley Flynn

FORTY-ODD YEARS ago Colorado was under martial law. "Bull pens," or stockades, were built to imprison hundreds of striking miners. The lawyers of the Western Federation of Unions sued for habeas corpus writs. When Gen. Sherman Bell heard of this he roared "To hell with Habeas Corpus! We'll give 'em post mortems!"

Today, three members of the Communist Party are in the Denver County Jail, denied habeas corpus. Two of them are women, Nancy Wertheimer and Mrs. Jane Rogers. Mrs. Rogers is a young mother of three small children, one a baby of seven months. Mrs. Rogers was an officer of the Party up to a year ago.

On Sept. 27 the two women refused to answer questions about the membership lists of the Communist Party to a U. S. Grand Jury. Irving Blau, the third prisoner, refused to divulge information as to his wife's whereabouts, standing firm on his right not to be compelled to testify against his wife, who was the Denver Party organizer.

All three claimed the right not to testify on the Party, on the ground that such answers might tend to incriminate them in view of the present N. Y. indictments against the 12 leaders of the Communist Party for conspiracy and membership in the Party.

When they refused to answer, they were taken immediately before U. S. District Judge J. Foster Lyles, found guilty of contempt and sentenced to jail. Blau was sentenced to six months and the two women to four months. They were all refused bail.

Mrs. Rogers' infant is being cared for by a friend and her two little boys are with her mother in Boulder.

THIS WEEK her husband, Tracy Rogers, who is a Party candidate for State legislature; Arthur Bary, Colorado C. P. organizer, and Paul Kleinbord are ordered to appear before the Grand Jury.

Last Thursday, the defense attorneys Samuel D. Menin of Denver and John T. McSherman of Los Angeles, sought writs of habeas corpus from U. S. Circuit Judge Sam G. Bratton, at Albuquerque, New Mexico, to secure the release of the three prisoners. This was denied, and bail on appeal from this decision was also denied. Bratton refused to act on a petition for bail in the contempt cases appeal, which will be argued this week before another Federal judge.

THE DENVER POST referred to Judge Bratton's action as "a precedent shattering decision." It is exactly that in several aspects. The refusal of bail and the denial of Blau's claim that his wife's letters to him "are privileged communications under the laws of Colorado" are unprecedented, but these are not what the Post meant. Apparently they refer to Judge Bratton's opinion that Judge Lyles was correct when he said "being a member of the Communist Party is not a crime." The judge added: "I know of no law making it a crime to be a member of the Communist Party."

ALP Hits Press Gag on News of Thompson Assault

By Louise Mitchell

The co-ordinated suppression of the news on cases of violence against minority groups and leaders was protested yesterday by Arthur Schutler, executive secretary of the State American Labor Party. In a letter to Don Hollenbeck, Columbia Broadcasting System reporter, Schutler asked that he make public in his weekly review of the press the complete suppression in the commercial press of a protest against the attempted assassination of Robert Thompson, chairman of the New York State Communist Party. The communication was sent to Hollenbeck, Sept. 27, three days after the protest delegation to City Hall, but to date CBS has failed to mention the case.

Edward Scott, head of the CBS news division, told the Daily Worker yesterday that "we haven't been able to arrive at any conclusion on the matter." Hollenbeck usually takes one issue in the press each week analyzes how it was handled by the various paper.

ONLY 'WORKER' PRINTED IT

Schutler pointed out in his letter that The Worker was the only newspaper which reported the runaround which the delegation of 47 civic, religious, political and trade union leaders got at City Hall. Although reporters and photographers from the other press were present throughout the incident and at hand at a press conference called on the spot by the leaders not a word appeared in the press.

"It seems to me that this is a menacing sign," declared Schutler. "If there can be such complete, co-ordinated suppression of an event in public view at City Hall (involving an unprecedented attack on a leader of a minority party, which a group of representative citizens came to City Hall to protest), then there can be similar censorship and blacking out of other incidents."

Suppression of such news, he continued, will result in "a license to continue violence under cover of newspaper blackouts."

SPURNED BY MAYOR

When the delegation arrived at City Hall, the members were advised by a police inspector that Mayor O'Dwyer would see five but later the group was informed that he wouldn't see any and that force would be used to keep them from entering City Hall.

After a crowd gathered at the City Hall steps and the press had taken note of the incident, five of the delegation were finally admitted to see one of the Mayor's aides. The leaders protested the Thompson stabbing and urged that assailants be apprehended, pointing to the connection between private violence and police terror against Negroes and other minority groups.

The press was present during the meeting with the Mayor's representative and when it was over the group reported to those who had remained outside.

"I should like to call to your attention," the Schutler letter said, "to this shocking fact: Despite the presence of the press throughout the entire incident, despite the obvious public interest involved, and despite the newsworthiness of the occurrence judged even by straight journalistic standards, not a single word appeared in any paper either that afternoon or the next day—except the Sunday Worker. Who wove that blanket of newspaper silence? Why?"

SUPPRESSED BY PRESS

Schutler said he was confident the individual newsmen has submitted their stories but that they were "uniformly and completely" suppressed.

The entire story of the Thompson stabbing has been shabbily treated in the press in order to create "discrepancies" and dampen public indignation against the fascist attack.

The ALP state secretary also submitted to Scott a detailed statement by the Civil Rights Congress on the numerous cases of hoodlum violence against minority groups and political parties.

This is a story to dedicate to National Press Week, the week in which the newspapers make a hubbalooboo about their so-called freedom.

Urge Puerto Rican, Negro Unity

By John Hudson Jones

The Harlem cop's night-stick "pounds on Negro and Puerto Rican heads alike." Manuel Medina, American Labor Party candidate for State Assembly in the 14th A. D., recently said this to a Park Palace audience.

He continued: "We are all slandered in the big money press, denied employment, then driven off relief, and we all live in the filthy slums of Harlem. I say, Negroes and Porto Ricans unite! It is the only solution of our common problems!"

Medina, the tall, handsome secretary of Congressman Vito Marcantonio, is running in the 14th A. D. which angles up from Spanish Harlem over into West Harlem around 110th St. and Seventh Ave. He is opposing a Democratic incumbent, Hulan E. Jack, who sold out the Negro and Puerto Rican peoples for a mess of Tammany potage.

Jack also has the Liberal Party designation, Medina pointed out. "This deal," he declared, "between the so-called Liberals and Tammany on behalf of a traitor, shows that the only people's party in New York is the ALP."

Medina's Republican opponent is Israel Davila.

Medina, who is 39, is the father of four children. He lives at 48 E. 110th St., and is a law student at St. John's University.

When Medina told the audience of police brutality, he spoke from experience. On Aug. 5 Medina and four other Puerto Rican leaders, after speaking at an ALP street meeting for Henry Wallace were

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 7.—In a telegram to Rep. Charles Kersten, chairman of a witchhunting House Labor sub-committee, Fred Bassett Blair, Independent (Communist) write-in candidate for Congress in the 5th District, called on Kersten to "stop hiding from the voters of the 5th District" and demanded he "return and face the electorate." Charging Kersten with "absentee electioneering through union-busting and red-baiting Gestapo police-state methods" Blair challenged him to "debate in public meeting or on the radio the real issues you try to cover up with Nazi-like antics."

manhandled and abused by a Harlem cop. They were then arrested, charged with disorderly conduct and tried and found guilty by a Tammany politician of a judge.

"There is only one answer we Puerto Ricans and Negroes can give this kind of treatment," Medina declared. "That is to vote for Henry Wallace, Glen Taylor and the other ALP candidates."

"Vote on Row C and answer men like Hulan Jack, who of his own choosing suddenly became quiet in the Assembly on key issues and legislation critically needed by the most oppressed people in the city."

ALBERT H. BLAND

In the 13th Assembly District, ALP candidate Albert H. Bland, 34, is opposing the incumbent Democrat Harold Stevens, and a Republican unknown, F. Ferrar. Bland lives at 51 W. 151 St. with his wife, Frances, and three children, two girls and a boy.

A fur dyer, Bland is active in Local 88 of the CIO Fancy Fur Dyers Union, and is chairman of a shop of 200 workers, most of whom are white. In the industry 13 years, he was formerly a business agent of Local 125, Fur Floor Employees. He is treasurer and field organizer of the United Harlem Tenants and Consumers Organization, as well as co-chairman of the 13th A. D. ALP Club.

Bland outlined his campaign issues to the Daily Worker. "We demand stronger rent control, and teeth in the housing and building codes to permit testimony of tenants against the chiseling landlords of Harlem," he said.

"I have personally talked to scores of people in Harlem and I find that the high price of milk has stopped a frightening number of children from getting it. We demand lower milk prices and state control."

Other issues, Bland said, were state aid for low cost housing, a return of the five-cent fare, an increase in state unemployment insurance, a stronger FEPC, more state aid for schools and relief clients and a state law against public and private restrictive covenants in housing.

CCNY Students Rap Curb on Drive to Oust Biased Profs

City College students were yesterday denied the right to take further action against Prof. William E. Knickerbocker and William C. Davis, by Student Council president Alan Rosenwasser, at a stormy meeting of 1,800. The meeting in Great Hall followed balloting Wednesday in which students voted to petition Commissioner of Education Spaulding for the dismissal of the two.

Rosenwasser ruled the meeting was "only for information, not for action."

At the end of yesterday's meeting Rosenwasser declared he had learned from Spaulding that it was not in his power to dismiss the bigoted teachers. Spaulding couldn't be reached for confirmation.

PROTEST GAG RULING

Despite protests, Rosenwasser refused anyone permission to speak other than to "ask or give information." At one point he snatched the microphone from the hands of Leonard Schwartz, member of the CCNY American Veterans Committee. When students approached the rostrum, a flying wedge of Rosenwasser's Council "ushers" pushed them away.

Paul Brown, spokesman of the Lincoln Corridor Strike Committee, declared, "We're going to set up death watches around City Hall."

Rosenwasser's action was denounced by several student group spokesmen. David Tyson, president of the Frederick Douglass Society, said: "We were swindled, but we're fighting back." Tobias Schwartz, president of the campus American Youth for Democracy declared, "They're using Rosenwasser to stop further action against Knickerbocker and Davis."

The three locals are 454, 848 and 905.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 (UP).—Sen. Kenneth McKellar (D-Tenn.) broke politically today with his longtime sponsor, E. H. Crump of Memphis, and announced he would support the regular Democratic Truman-Barkley ticket.

Crump last night announced he would support the States' rights Democratic ticket headed by Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina.

UMW Parley Votes to Back T-H Senator

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 7.—The United Mine Workers 40th convention adopted a resolution urging the election of Republican Sen. John S. Cooper of Kentucky and six Democratic candidates for the Senate.

Democratic candidates endorsed are Matthew Neely of W. Va.; Robert S. Kerr, of Okla.; Lester C. Hunt of Wyo.; Estes Kefauver of Tenn.; James E. Murray of Mont.; and Edwin C. Johnson of Colo.

The convention recommended the defeat of Republican Senate candidates in Iowa, Illinois and Kansas but gave no formal endorsement to the Democratic nominees.

Cooper voted for the Taft-Hartley Law. John T. Jones, national legislative representative, explained that the Kentucky Senator sometimes voted for labor endorsed bills.

The convention called for the defeat of all Republican and Democratic Representatives in these and other coal-producing states who voted for the Taft-Hartley Law.

It also adopted its first 1949 wage demand by recommending that the next bituminous contract set aside Feb. 12 as a holiday in the mining industry in honor of Lewis' birthday. The day already is a contractual holiday in the anthracite area.

John L. Lewis told the convention that he will fight any attempt by Congress to prohibit collective bargaining on welfare and pension plans.

Lewis said that Rep. Virgil Chapman, Cooper's Democratic opponent, "is possibly the worst enemy labor could have in the Senate." Chapman is being supported by the CIO Political Action Committee.

He said such an amendment would "lend the power of the state to the employers and oppressors."

"It is up to you," Lewis said, "whether you kiss the hand of your oppressors or whether you will fight. I prefer to fight."

Speakers will include Prof. Gaspare Nicotri, author; Mrs. Arcaro, leader of the Italian-American Women For Wallace Committee; Fileno De Novellis, secretary-treasurer, Shoe Workers Union; Pietro Allegra and Charles Cafiero of L'Unita' Del Popolo, and Vito Magli.

Durkin Nails Prudential Tale as Fabrication

The attack leveled by the Prudential Insurance Co. in a letter to its agents and in the press was blasted yesterday as a "tissue of distortions and fabrications" by James H. Durkin, president of the CIO United Office and Professional Workers of America.

The press yesterday featured Prudential's letter in which the company declared it would not renegotiate a contract with UOPWA on the grounds of "Communist domination."

The company cited alleged conversations with union officials and attempted to picture the UOPWA as seeking an extension of the contract with no charges.

"Prudential's miserable misrepresentations" Durkin said, "are desperate efforts to confuse and obscure the real issues. These are the agents' demand that the company negotiate on their proposals for a $15 raise, a $65 minimum and increased security, and renew the contract it has held with the UOPWA since 1943."

He declared the union would continue to press its fight for increased pay and security.

Hartley Says Truman Acts In T-H Spirit

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 7.—Rep. Fred A. Hartley today charged President Truman with making use of the Taft-Hartley Law while claiming to oppose it in campaign speeches.

Hartley asserted that President Truman had acted on his own in invoking the injunction provisions of the law on seven occasions by alleging that the national health and safety was endangered.

Hartley, here to confer with the Ohio Chamber of Commerce Labor Committee, also revealed a Congress committee will next year seek a law to ban mass picketing and protect strikebreakers.

He urged state laws similar to T-H.

Bronx Rally to Test Gag Law

Kahn and Nicholas Carnes, ALP candidates from the 23rd, 25th and 26th congressional districts, will speak from a sound truck without the police permits required by the Cunningham law.

Wm. McCarthy Held in New Frame-Ups

William McCarthy, former organizational director of the National Maritime Union, and Albert Salz, another seaman, were yesterday sent to Special Sessions from Felony Court on frame-up charges of assaulting two cops. The two seamen were themselves roughed up in early August while protesting police brutality against Negroes at a street meeting in front of NMU headquarters.

The street meeting had protested the police murder of William Milton, a Brooklyn Negro Communist. McCarthy had already served 10 days on Rikers Island and paid a $50 fine on phony disorderly conduct charges growing out of the same incident.

Yesterday, Judge Ambrose J. Haddock, former police captain, dozed during the hearing, but stirred up in time to deny dismissal motions of Civil Rights Congress counsel Moses Weinman. Weinman declared McCarthy was being held in double jeopardy.

Present in court yesterday were more than 50 seamen and their wives. A Seamen's Committee to Defend McCarthy and Salz will hold protest meetings.

In Brooklyn Felony Court, the trial of Joseph Milton, brother of the dead man, who was charged with felonious assault during the fatal incident, was postponed.

Wallace Bids Liberal Dems Unite to Defeat Reactionaries

By Adam Lapin

EN ROUTE WITH WALLACE IN CALIFORNIA, Oct. 7.—It is reported that in one Congressional district in California the Democratic candidate was consistently evasive in

Wallace Calif. Meetings Top GOP, Dems

Special to the Daily Worker

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—Henry A. Wallace has demonstrated in a hectic, strenuous tour of California that his candidacy and his Progressive Party have substantial strength in all sections of the state and among all groups of the population. Large mass meetings and enthusiastic crowds belied the prediction of professional pollsters and newspaper dope stories that Wallace's strength was fast slipping in California.

Wallace pulled larger crowds in Los Angeles than either President Truman or Governor Thomas E. Dewey. He had about 24,000 in Gilmore Stadium as against 14,000 for Truman in the same stadium a few days earlier and against 20,000 for Dewey in the Hollywood bowl.

In addition, Wallace attracted big crowds at open air mass meetings in the Jewish, Negro and Mexican sections of Los Angeles.

One of the most significant aspects of this campaign trip by Wallace demonstrated that the Progressive Party has considerable strength in the smaller cities and the rural areas of California as well as in the three large urban centers of Oakland, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Wallace toured the entire Central Valley, going north from Bakersfield some 300 miles to Sacramento. He talked to farmers at small meetings. And hundreds of farmers came to meetings at Bakersfield, Fresno and Sacramento.

The Fresno and Sacramento meetings were among the most successful of his trip, pulling more than 2,000 each. Wallace found a hearty response among farmers for his blistering attack on "The octopus" of monopoly which is looting the rich and agricultural valleys of California.

As a result of this trip, the Wallace movement has been definitely strengthened in rural areas, and there is now a strong Wallace-for-President Farmers Committee functioning on a state wide basis.

In addition, Wallace strengthened the labor backing of the Independent Progressive Party with his visit to maritime picket lines at San Francisco and his strong speech supporting their demands.

Wallace similarly threw full progressive support to the embattled oil workers, and said theirs is "a prize example of a strike deliberately fomented for the purpose of destroying a union."

Even conservative newspaper correspondents and political observers concede that the campaign trip has increased the Wallace vote in California, and estimate that he will get about 400,000 votes in the state.

his talks with representatives of the Independent Progressive Party who were anxious to work out an agreement with him on major campaign issues and support him for reelection.

Finally, an exasperated IPP leader asked: "Do you or don't you want us to support you?"

"I don't know," the candidate replied.

The incident illustrates in a small way the difficulties of Progressive Party leaders in helping some liberal Democrats get elected.

The effort to weld a united front between liberal Democrats and Progressive Party supporters has been strongly backed up by Henry Wallace and his aides on this campaign trip.

Indeed, one of the main points made by Wallace at speeches and press conferences on his trip through California is that unity is needed to defeat reactionary Republicans in a number of key districts.

On the one hand, Wallace has stated clearly and precisely that the IPP intends to support Reps. Helen Gahagan Douglas and Chet Holifield, although it is critical of their pro-Truman stand on foreign policy issues.

And he has tried, in so doing, to clear up the deliberately created confusion and distortion that the Progressive Party sought the defeat of such liberal Democrats.

WALLACE'S CHALLENGE

On the other hand, Wallace has challenged the liberal Democrats and the labor leaders to get behind IPP candidates in districts where they offer the only opposition to reactionary Republicans.

But this method has been met with a barrage of statements from Democratic Party spokesmen rebuffing all attempts to assure the defeat of Republican congressional candidates.

As Wallace got into Los Angeles, Mrs. Douglas came through with a statement to the effect that she does not want IPP support which had been pledged to her, and that she considers Russia "a threat" to world peace.

Wallace pointed out at a press conference that while he disagreed with Mrs. Douglas, her statement would not affect the IPP position in supporting her.

But the incident did not stop there. Democratic state committee vice-chairman E. George Luckey came through with a cheap partisan statement in which he said:

"It looks as if Henry Wallace is trying to corral some Democratic votes by fighting his way aboard the Helen Gahagan Douglas and Chet Holifield bandwagons."

HOLIFIELD'S STATEMENT

As if this were not quite nasty enough, Holifield came through with another statement that he rejects again "unsolicited and unwelcome endorsements by the third party and its leaders."

"The Wallace movement," he added, "is rapidly dwindling throughout the nation. Its candidates are desperately grasping for the coattails of true progressive democratic Democrats whom they recently condemned and opposed with their own candidates."

Holifield here is playing both sides of the street. At one and the same time, he says that he doesn't want IPP support and repeats the stale canard that the IPP refused to support him. His statement that the IPP "condemned" him or Mrs. Douglas is, of course, pure fabrication.

SUICIDAL POLICY

It is not new that the Democratic Party has long been gripped by a suicidal mania which is driving it to sure destruction. In fact, this has been true ever since Truman took over.

But it is unfortunate that Democratic Party leaders should be determined to drag down to defeat some of their most liberal Congressmen, and have infected some of these candidates with their fatal disease.

Indeed, the main aim of the Democratic policy seems to be to limit at all costs the size of the Wallace vote rather than to defeat the Republicans.

It is doubtful whether these recent statements attacking the Wallace movement will have any real effect in cutting down the Progressive vote.

But there is no doubt that it will probably have some effect in limiting the vote for candidates like Mrs. Douglas and Holifield and in discouraging some IPP campaign workers in plugging for them.

I am sure that the IPP will do everything possible to elect these candidates despite themselves. But the statements of the candidates and the attitude of their party bosses who have pressured them into making these statements are certainly making it tough.

Satira Freed; To Visit Grau

HAVANA, Oct. 7 (UP).—Patricia ("Satira") Schmidt, 22, American nightclub dancer, was formally released from prison today on a full pardon granted by President Ramon Grau San Martin.

She had served slightly less than 18 months of a 15-year sentence for slaying her married lover, Chicago socialite John Lester Mee, in April, 1947.

It was understood that before departing for Toledo, O. to join her father, the exotic Satira would visit the palace to thank President Grau for his pardon. She plans to leave Friday for Toledo.

Wisconsin New Party Withdraws 4 Candidates, Asks Dems Reciprocate

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 7.—The Wisconsin People's Progressive Party has announced that four of its Congressional candidates (in the 1st, 2nd, 3rd, and 6th districts) were withdrawing "in the interests of unity of liberals and progressives," and called on the Democrats in turn to withdraw two of their candidates in the Fourth and 10th districts in favor of Wallace candidates.

The announcements were made by Michael Essin, PPP executive director and candidate for Attorney General. Essin stated the PPP did not nominate a candidate in the Fifth District, in order to "attain a maximum unity of liberals and progressives" to defeat Rep. Charles Kersten (R). Former Congressman Andrew Blemler is the Democratic nominee against Kersten.

"The PPP now calls upon the Democratic Party to make its contribution, if it sincerely believes in the defeat of reaction, to the cause of liberalism by withdrawing its candidate in the Fourth District," Essin said.

He stated that Edmund V. Bobrowicz, Fourth District PPP nominee, "on the basis of his long record as a fighter and campaigner for the people's interests and as a vote-getter, is the only candidate who can defeat the reactionary incumbent," John J. Brophy, Republican.

O'KONSKI MENACE

Responsibility for the election of O'Konski, "the worst kind of a reactionary" in the 10th District, will rest with the Democratic Party," Essin said, "unless it realizes that its refusal to withdraw its candidate will serve to divide and betray the liberal and progressive people seeking unity."

Essin charged that the Democratic candidate in the 10th, Daniel W. Hoan, former Socialist Mayor of Milwaukee, "was transplanted" from Milwaukee by the Democrats "to create a three-cornered race... thereby enhancing the possibility of reelection of O'Konski, who barely edged out his opponent in the primary." He described Charles Polich, PPP nominee, as "a farmer who has spent most of his life in that area and has a tremendous following among farmers and coop members."

Three other PPP candidates remaining in the race—Emil Muelver in the Seventh; Oliver J. Rasmussen in the Eighth; and Lincoln Jahr in the Ninth—will be "rallying points for all true liberals and progressives" in districts where Democratic strength is negligible, Essin stated.

Robeson Talks To Big Rally In Savannah

SAVANNAH, Ga., Oct. 7.—An overflow crowd of unionists jammed an unsegregated mass meeting in Masonic Temple here last night to hear Paul Robeson speak and sing. The meeting answered the local police who the night before had broken up a rally in the Municipal Auditorium in an effort to enforce segregated seating of the audience. No police were present in last night's meeting.

The meeting was sponsored by two locals of the CIO Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union who are striking for 15-cent-an-hour wage increases.

Robeson and other third party speakers, including Clark Foreman, the party's national treasurer and a native of Atlanta, pledged support

Soviets Increase Newsprint Production

LONDON, Oct. 7 (UP).—Radio Moscow predicted today that Soviet paper production next year "will considerably exceed its pre-war level."

The broadcast said that in the third quarter of this year the paper industry increased its output 25 percent above the same period last year. The production of high grade paper for printing purposes, it said, was 250 percent higher than before the war.

Score New Kersten Move to Smear UE

Rep. Charles R. Kersten was charged by United Electrical Workers Local 475 yesterday with an attempt to "whip up some additional hysteria" against the union. The statement by Thomas C. Cameron, business manager of the local, referred to allegations by the Wisconsin Republican that the stool-pigeon testimony of a dismissed Local 475 official had been followed by "threats against his life."

The witness, Jack Sario, had told Kersten's Hartley Labor subcommittee Wednesday that he and three others were bounced from their UE jobs because they refused to follow the "party line" on the Marshall Plan and third party. Kersten gavelled into silence Cameron's efforts to detail the disruptive activities of the quartet, which included working for the United Auto Workers while on the UE payroll, and, in Sario's case, owning a plant in the same industry he was supposedly "organizing."

Sario, who said he was a former Communist, told Kersten that he and his wife each got a "threatening" phone call shortly after his kissing game with the Hartleyites. Kersten said the FBI had been called in to "investigate."

Cameron declared that the "threat" publicity was "very definitely" contrived to continue the "red-baiting" smear of his union which Kersten had begun at the committee hearings.

Commenting on those hearings, Charles Fay, Local 475 president, declared: "It was quite evident to our members who were able to gain admittance to the hearing room that the Kersten group's purpose was solely and simply to provide election-year newspaper headlines. Through these headlines Mr. Kersten and associates hope to divert the attention of the American people from the pressing problems of housing, exorbitant prices, inadequate wages and the war danger."

Some 600 workers of the American Machine & Foundry Co. plant in Brooklyn were at the shop meeting Tuesday night which voted to secede from the UE local and join the UAW, it was learned yesterday. Press reports had it that a "majority" of the shop's 1800 workers had so voted. Actually, union sources indicated, less than one-third of the membership had an opportunity to decide on what was a sneaked-in secession move, not on the agenda for discussion.

The vote was pushed through in a meeting deliberately made tense and turbulent, charged with red-baiting hysteria. Despite this, it was reported, as many workers in the debate argued against secession as those in favor.

The secession was linked to the disruptive activities of the ousted local business agents, one of whom, Matthew Miller, was seen hovering around the meeting hall, presumably to give guidance to the UAW raiding action.

Will 'Study' City Court Suit on Milk

Richard Denver, assistant District Attorney, yesterday promised a group of women representing the Emergency Committee to Reduce the Price of Milk that he would study the files on the milk probe and see whether the city on its own could start court action against the milk companies.

For the first time in Brooklyn's history borough voters will have the opportunity on Nov. 2 to elect an outstanding Negro attorney and veteran for a high judicial post. He is Thomas R. Jones, candidate of the American Labor Party for City Court Judge. Jones is well known for his leadership in the fight for job equality, which led to the hiring of Negro salespeople in Woolworth stores.

Gerson in Radio Talk Raps Plot to Arm Franco

The "gentlemen's agreement" between big business, the military and the bi-partisan administration to ally the U. S. with the Spanish dictator Franco was attacked last night by Simon W. Gerson, Communist and American Labor Party candidate for City Council.

Speaking over WMCA, Gerson cited the Spanish ban on the film "Gentlemen's Agreement," which attacks anti-Semitism, as proof of Franco's fascism.

He told his radio audience of the conference of Sen. Chan Gurney, Republican head of the Armed Services Committee, and Secretary of Defense Forrestal, at which, according to press reports, Gurney discussed a plan "to help arm the butcher anti-Semitic Franco, the pal of Hitler and Mussolini."

Gerson called on "those who hate Franco and all he stands for—those who love the ideals in the picture 'Gentlemen's Agreement'—and those who want peace and freedom and not war and fascism to support Henry Wallace and the Progressive Party, the New York State section of which is the American Labor Party."

He demanded lifting the embargo on Israel and imposing one on Franco.

Demand O-C Reinstatement

Locked-out workers of the Openheim Collins department store yesterday requested reinstatement, in a letter to Gordon K. Greenfield, secretary-treasurer of the firm. The workers, who have been out since Sept. 14, made it clear that they would return only if all of them were reinstated.

Wallace Hails Coast Strikers as Patriots

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—Henry Wallace last night denounced the effort of the government subsidized shipping interests to smash the "truly democratic unions" of the Pacific Coast. Excerpts from his speech to a spirited crowd of 9,000 at Civic Auditorium follow:

Both Truman and Dewey are stumping the country asking the support of labor. They have the brazen effrontery to ask the working man to vote for either of them!

Dewey is the admitted candidate of the Pews, the Hearsts, the McCormicks and the most reactionary labor haters in the country.

Truman has Forrestal, Harriman, Lovett, McLoy, and John Snyder and countless others. Snyder, present Secretary of the Treasury, maintains close connections with Giannini of the Bank of America. You will find the Bank of America as well as the Wall Street firms represented in the Truman Administration tied to shipping companies which are now struck by the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union and the National Union of Marine Cooks and Stewards. There is no doubt in my mind as to whose side the Government takes in this strike.

The present waterfront strike has all the manifestations of a barefaced attempt by the shipping interest to destroy truly democratic trade unions in the United States. It is wrong—utterly wrong—that the weight of the Government is thrown against the workers as they fight the monopoly-controlled shipping industry.

PROFITS VS. PEOPLE

Here again we have a perfect example of runaway profits at the expense of the American worker. The Moore-McCormack shipping company's profits have gone up since 1939 from $369,000 to over $15,000,000, an increase of over 4,000 percent. No one believes that wages have increased by anywhere near this rate. These profits do not include a reserve of two million dollars for wear and tear on the vessels of this line. You and I know there was no such reserve put away for wear and tear on the human beings who operate these ships.

Yet despite the fabulous profits our Government, which refuses to subsidize low-cost housing, has subsidized the shipping companies to the tune of millions and millions of dollars. One example: Alaska Steam, Northern and Alaska Transportation received subsidies from the Government estimated to amount to four million a year. And this sum goes primarily to one man, Gilbert Skinner. This bipartisan policy of generosity for the wealthy and repressive legislation for the needy has provided a subsidy to American shipping companies amounting to 35 percent of the cost of all new vessels built in the United States.

STILL MORE LOOT

But the shipping interests, not content with this plum, have introduced a bill, recently passed by the House of Representatives, which would raise this subsidy to 50 percent. Because it sometimes takes a little while to get a bill through Congress, and because these men are impatient, President Truman has authorized the payment of a 45 percent subsidy on the building of certain commercial vessels which are now in construction.

Now, with an assist from high Government officials, the Waterfront Employers Association and Pacific American Shipowners Association attempt to turn back the clock. The shipping interests may want, but you and I don't want and won't accept, a return to the rule of terror which prevailed on the waterfront in 1934. We don't want more union men murdered.

The owners attempt to cloak their disgraceful actions with a pretense of legality and patriotism. They cry that they will not deal with a union which has not complied with the optional, undemocratic, union-busting anti-Communist provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act.

They imply that this is the major obstacle in the path of peace on the waterfront. But this is obviously not true. The oil workers' union did comply with the anti-Communist provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act and they are out on strike just as the ILWU and Marine Cooks and Stewards are on strike.

These big business interests are more interested in breaking up democratic unions than in industrial peace and high level buying power for the American people.

And these same interests, which

Around the Globe

in baking it. And the UN, not to mention Israel, is being asked to take the rap for the whole business.

It must be remembered how Count Bernadotte came into the picture, to understand the obscene way in which the imperialist politicians are trying to exploit his corpse just laid to rest last Sunday after so many fulsome eulogies.

TAKE A QUICK glance backward to last Nov. 28, when the UN Assembly recommended independent Jewish and Arab states, bound by an economic union, with a separate UN administration for Jerusalem.

Instead of carrying that out—what happened? The Arab states, in particular the British puppet Abdullah of Transjordan, were encouraged to attack Israel. The Jews were compelled to carry out the UN decision by their own arms.

The authority of the UN was undermined by the State Department's flip-flops, while Britain financed Arab aggression, particularly Abdullah's Legion, and the United States maintained its unfair embargo.

And when the Soviet Union demanded Security Council action, it was blocked by a continual Anglo-American reluctance to do anything, and a constant maneuvering for time in which the western powers could improve their positions at the expense of both Jews and Arabs alike.

BY THE TECHNIQUE of a truce, which was not really a truce, and with the ratification of a Special UN Assembly last May, Count Bernadotte was brought in as "mediator."

Israel had by this time shouldered the burden herself of supplanting the British Administration. She defended her frontiers, as well as the 100,000 Jews of the new city of Jerusalem, which neither the UN nor the imperialist friends of the Arabs lifted a single finger to save.

Instead of recognizing Israel as a state, the Truman Administration deliberately held that off (while dangling the hundred million dollar loan) all through the summer until the present session of the UN Assembly.

And the late Count Bernadotte was coached to bring in proposals calculated to hamstring Israel. With Bernadotte assassinated, it seemed a sure and easy thing to push through the plan in the ostentatious wake for a rather mundane count who overnight became the first UN saint.

As late as last Wednesday, both Hector McNeill and Warren Austin, the British and American delegates, tried to get Palestine first on the agenda of the Political Committee here, hoping to exploit the Bernadotte affair and push the thing through in time for the elections.

A combination of skillful Soviet footwork, plus Arab opposition (for reasons of their own) blocked the Anglo-American move.

ISRAELI LEADERS have mixed feelings about the situation. Foreign Minister Moshe Shertok, who arrived Friday night, is making the most of the religious holiday not only to nurse a cold, but canvass the scene. It should always be borne in mind that the tendency to a settlement with the imperialist powers is very strong in the Israeli government. The alternative of real independence, and closer relations with the Soviet Union and the people's democracies, is looked upon with an ideological hostility of which imperialism has always taken advantage.

Israel is mobilized, but is not fighting—a very heavy strain for a small state. Under the Bernadotte plan, it gains the whole of Galilee, which is no concession at all, since that was won by arms against fierce aggression. And it gains a token recognition that will be hedged around by economic deals.

What Israel stands to lose, however, is of cardinal importance: the bulk of the Negev, so necessary for future development, and the prospect of a strong British stooge, Abdullah, taking over what was supposed to be an independent Arab state, and forming a perpetual gun in the ribs of the new nation.

Haifa and the Lydda airport become "free ports," and, worst of all, the 100,000 Jews of Jerusalem and the city itself again becomes an "international trust."

The Israeli leaders feel that this city which only the Jews defended, while the world moaned but did nothing, is an integral part of the state and cannot be taken away at this point. Even if Israel submits, there is no guarantee that the Arabs—encouraged by the imperialist rivalry—will accept the thing, anyhow.

Here the matter stands, awaiting the debates that will begin by the middle of October, with cheap electioneering playing such a big role in the American delegation.

"A man couldn't complain after a meal like this, he wouldn't have the strength."

A Policeman Was Impressed

Brooklyn, N. Y.

Editor, Daily Worker:

Whenever we progressives rally en masse these days, there are always enough of "New York's Finest" around to make us feel kind of important. But how many times do we wonder if these guys ever learn something?

While I was ushering at the Yankee Stadium rally, one officer approached me and began to ask questions like, "When is Wallace going to speak?" and "When is this gonna happen, when is that gonna happen, etc."

One thing led to another. It turned out that the boys on duty got quite a kick out of Marcantonio's tirade against their boss, Whirling Willie. Well, the policeman was for Dewey and I was for Wallace, so it's needless to say who knew the answers. But when we got to the big question, the peace issue, the guy was so impressed that he invited me to dinner at his house to meet his wife and kid and talk over politics!

Editor, Daily Worker:

Nancy Wertheimer is now serving a four-month sentence in the Denver County jail because she refused to answer questions during a grand jury inquisition.

Jane Rogers, mother of three young children, and Irving Blau are also in prison for the same "crime." Bail was denied, a writ of habeas corpus was turned down, a motion of appeal on the conviction was refused.

I have just written to Attorney General Tom C. Clark in Washington, and to District Judge J. Foster Symes (Post Office Building, Denver, Colo.) asking that bail be set in this case.

Hundreds of others who read about it will also want to write in protest against such un-American treatment of these three fine Americans.

World of Labor

By George Morris

John L. Lewis, the Strange Contradiction

JOHN L. LEWIS came up to his usual standard in his payoff to Harry S. Truman as he opened the convention of the United Mine Workers in Cincinnati. The old boy is still a master in dishing out scorn and contempt for his enemies.

He was in equally good trim as he shifted his respects to CIO and AFL leaders of the Phil Murray-William Green-David Dubinsky vintage. He said they "could be called down to the White House at the whim of the President, and while there they would sell out the labor movement and sell out their own union for a lunch."

John L. sounds almost left wing-ish. His union, said Lewis, doesn't sell out, and he added: "We prefer the honorable course of fighting for what is right."

Lewis went on, with obvious pleasure, to describe how Truman and Attorney General Clark unsuccessfully tried to stop him and the United Mine Workers with several injunctions, fines of $2,130,000 and other such harassment. But thanks to the union's policy of not submitting to the Taft-Hartley pattern, it won the $100 a month pension.

SO FAR so good. The miners cheered him loudly, of course, for they got a measure of "Injunction Harry" the hard way. But what about the other side of our political coin—the one with the elephant on it? As this is written, Lewis has not yet said a good word for Thomas E. Dewey.

Opinions are many on that score. Some say he was snubbed by Dewey. Others say he wasn't given anything on which to hang an endorsement. Then there is a view that he deliberately refrains from showing open friendship for Dewey, by request of the GOP candidate, on the supposition that this would hurt Dewey.

And there is also the view that while John L. is boss over the affairs of the UMW and its political affairs nationally, in the districts his associates are tied to all sorts of political machines—more often Democratic than Republican.

Any of these theories may be true. But Lewis has a wide reputation as a man who goes for something and doesn't bark at the wind. He himself has issued the slogan of no votes for anyone who voted for the Taft-Hartley Law or supports it.

On that basis Lewis himself placed some 50 Republican congressional candidates in coal areas on the defeat-at-all-cost list.

SURELY LEWIS, the master strategist and hard-boiled realist, isn't falling for the old-fashioned fertilizer that Dewey and the 80th Congress are things apart? He rightly detected that Truman's veto of the Taft-Hartley Law was a fake maneuver—a move for the record to be used for vote-catching. He couldn't possibly be taken in by the speculation that Dewey is going to surprise the world with liberalism?

Either Lewis is guided by his well-known lust for revenge—to beat Truman with anybody who could beat him; or he is playing a game that is no more commendable than that of the laborite luncheoners at the White House. He could be doing both.

But how does that square with the interests of the man who digs coal for a living? The miner is left to choose between the frying pan and the fire—between candidates who equally hate him and his union, and who agree 100 percent on the pro-war policy of the government.

LEWIS is a strange case of a pro-capitalist labor leader—a dyed-in-the-wool conservative Republican at that—who by a strange set of circumstances also emerged as one of the most militant resisters against the Taft-Hartley Law. The example he set and the experience of his union, is a powerful argument for a break with the two old parties and the need of independent political action by labor.

But ideologically, Lewis is the biggest confusion in a confused world and one of its strangest contradictions. He embodies in his person both militant economic action against the monopolists and most vigorous political support of the monopolists.

On foreign policy, for example, he is closest to Col. Robert McCormick's line. He regrets that the U.S. had ever even recognized the Soviet Union.

The ordinary coal miner doesn't indulge in such tortuous political inconsistencies as those that operate in the mind of his much-revered union president. Many miners are more likely to draw the conclusion that if both Dewey and Truman are no good, then it's time to look to the New Party.

The Truman Collapse

THE Truman cause is collapsing fast. The people do not believe his come-lately challenges to Big Business. Especially since his policies and cabinet are pro-Wall-Street from top to bottom.

Most Democratic Party candidates are afraid to mention Truman's name. They are afraid of being drowned in the anti-Truman flood.

What happened to the big pro-Truman crusade which the AFL and CIO officialdom was going to sell to American rank and file labor?

TRUMAN

It has collapsed as fast as Truman's popularity. The fancy labor committees for Truman have sunk into silence. Philip Murray makes no speeches for his boy. Neither does anyone else in that circle. John L. Lewis echoes labor's contempt for Truman, but is afraid to sell Dewey. So he picks neither. This leaves the field to Dewey and the Big Business mob. They will make the miners pay the first chance they get.

What happened to the pro-Roosevelt liberals who shouted so angrily that Henry Wallace was a "splitter" for leaving the Democratic Party? Their collapse is worse than Truman's. They themselves have become the biggest splitters of the potential progressive alignment in the country.

Max Lerner, who sang Truman's praises and cussed out the Wallace movement for its refusal to join the anti-Communist witch-hunt, now admits his bankruptcy. He chooses Norman Thomas as a "symbol." A "symbol" of what? Of Thomas' political alliance with the America First-Lindbergh mob in the 1930s? Of Thomas' fake "socialism" of which the New York Times calmly sneered, "It can do us no harm"?

Lerner's darling Truman has betrayed every one of the promises he made, for example, to the state of Israel. In the face of this, the sole recourse of the New York Star is the absurd alibi that Truman and Marshall are being "tricked" by their "experts" in the State Department. Could political self-delusion go any further than this? They'll do anything but join with and unite the anti-war crusade led by the Progressive Party.

As for the political intrigue known as the Liberal Party in New York, its problem seems to be only how to find the most reactionary candidate in each district and how best to split the progressive vote to insure his election. To fight Marcantonio, they have endorsed the GOP warmonger John Ellis. To fight Rep. Leo Isacson, they have joined with the notorious Flynn machine in the Bronx. They have endorsed Rep. Multer, who voted to rearm fascist Franco, rather than back the Wallace candidate Leo Pressman. One of their leaders, Dean Alfange, has gone over to Dewey. He, at least, had the gall of his convictions. When he couldn't split the progressives, he joined the reactionaries.

Such is the sorry story of the men who tried, and are still trying, to knife the Wallace candidacy on the grounds that it "divided" labor. They have scattered in all directions. They are showing their true colors. Their arguments always were alibis for their unwavering loyalty to the war policy of Big Capital. They are seen as stooges of Forrestal, Dulles, Royall and the Pentagon generals.

The fight for progressive unity goes on without them and against them.

The sole banner for unity against reaction is that of the Progressive Party. That is clearer than ever!

As We See It

Fertile Field for Wallace Workers

By Rob F. Hall

WASHINGTON

THE RELATIVELY low registration figures for New York City, brilliantly analyzed last Monday by Max Gordon, have confirmed the growing impression that there is widespread political apathy abroad in the land. There are enthusiastic partisans for Wallace, for Dewey and for Thurmond, and no doubt there exist some who might be called last-ditch supporters of Truman. But a considerable section of the voters are apparently disinterestedly sitting this election out.

Although in certain cities, and especially in certain congressional districts, registration is higher than in 1944, for the country as a whole there is evidence of apathy.

This was indicated by the New York Times after the first week of the Dewey and Truman tours. "As campaigns go," said the Times, "this one has been unexciting. The crowds have been more polite than spirited."

SIMILAR TESTIMONY has been supplied by Richard Sasuly, Federated Press correspondent who has been sampling grass-roots sentiment from Cumberland, Md., to Detroit. Sasuly found little political activity in the Maryland industrial town. "If the political campaign has cut deep here," he wrote, "it has gone so deep it is altogether underground. Six weeks before the election and not a single political poster can be seen in town."

From Morgantown, W. Va., he reported, "no big public meetings have been held or planned. No one is out nights knocking on doors." The situation in other cities he described was about the same.

Thomas L. Stokes, Scripps-Howard columnist, noted "a restrained attitude on the part of the public." As a reporter aboard the Truman and Dewey trains, the audience impressed him as "thin and desultory," and he compared them with the fervent crowds who used to cheer FDR and Willkie and in 1944 even Dewey.

Mary Ellen Leary, another S-H columnist accompanying the Warren train, commented on the absence of enthusiasm and concluded, "The people just aren't very interested."

I DON'T KNOW all the reasons for this lack of interest. Undoubtedly, one of the most important is that despite Truman's demagogic campaign, a large bloc of voters do not see any real difference between Dewey and the Democratic candidate.

Residents of Galesburg, Ill., for instance, had their rents raised 18 percent last month by Tighe Woods, housing expediter appointed by President Truman. Since then Woods has upped rents 10 percent in Cass County, N. D.; 7 percent in Cedar Rapids; 15 percent in Petersburg, Va. In two days controls were lifted from three cities in Kansas, Tennessee and Florida. Plainly, we will pay higher rents whether Truman or Dewey sits in the White House.

On the most important issue of war or peace, Truman and Dewey have made it abundantly clear that both intend to wage the cold war even to the point of open hostilities. And while both candidates commend civil liberties, both are sworn enemies of the civil rights of Communists.

FOR THE VOTER who recognizes no alternative except Truman or Dewey, there's no wonder about apathy. But for the voter who understands the real issues, of course, there is another choice—that of casting a vote for the Progressive Party candidate.

How many there are of these no one knows, not even Dr. Gallup. Wallace's campaign manager, Beanie Baldwin, has himself declined to prophesy. But whatever their number, there is no lack of fervor or enthusiasm among them. These are the people who were pushing doorbells in FDR's campaign in 1944, and evidently they are just as active today.

Adam Lapin reports from San Francisco that Henry Wallace drew larger crowds than either Truman or Dewey.

The spirit and enthusiasm in Congressional districts where Progressive candidates are making a fight has already been noted, including that of Leo Isacson in the Bronx, Marcantonio in Manhattan and Ada Jackson in Brooklyn. Richard Sasuly reports a similar feeling in Sharon, Pa., where all branches of organized labor are supporting a campaign to unseat the notorious labor-hater, Rep. Carroll Kearns.

These districts do not exhaust the list, of course, but even after they are all added up they leave large areas where the election campaign is a sham battle and where a goodly portion of the voters will simply watch from the sidelines. As unfortunate as this is, it must be admitted that at this stage, a little more than three weeks before the election, prospects are for a turnout not larger and perhaps smaller than 1944. (If not for the new party, those prospects will be even smaller.)

Inasmuch as the Progressives are working with such spirit, it is extremely likely that the new party will achieve a much larger percentage of the votes than has been predicted by the public opinion polls. Baldwin told reporters here the Wallace vote would "surprise" them. If proper work is done during the next three weeks, the result may surprise all of us.

that a Federal Grand Jury in N. Y. indicts 12 leading Communists under the Smith Act and a special assistant to U. S. Attorney General Tom Clark, Max Goldscheim, comes out to Denver to argue the exact opposite, that "to be a Communist is no crime."

The edifying spectacle of U. S. Attorney Joseph N. Lilly using the Supreme Court decision in the Schneiderman case to prove that the CP is legal, is something I never expected to see. Please don't think the Denver attitude has affected my mind! Either the Eastern hand of the Department of Justice doesn't know what the Western hand is doing, or some smart legal wizard is trying to cook up a new way to legalize the Communist Party.

Arguing that the Party is legal in order to put all its leaders in jail for contempt is like a page from Alice in Wonderland. How did such a queer quirk arise? you will ask in amazement as I did when I arrived in Denver.

A FORMER Denver army employee, Vern Wesley Howard, was arrested about Sept. 17 at Scottsbluff, Neb., on a Denver Grand Jury indictment, charging perjury. He was employed here until recently at Buckley field as an airplane mechanic.

This is the first indictment in the entire nation involving the loyalty test for government workers.

Howard has stated he was not a CP member. On the claim that they are merely investigating if he is or ever has been a member or if there are other government employees who have sworn falsely, they called in present and past officers of the Communist Party and demanded the records of the Party. They are not investigating the Party as such. They claim, only checking on "loyalty" cases in government employment.

This gives the government a position of "heads I win, tails you lose." If our Party members comply and surrender membership lists, everybody on them is subject to blacklist, discharge, ostracism and, even more serious, possible prosecution under indictments similar to the N. Y. ones.

If they refuse to answer questions, invoking their constitutional right to do so, on the ground that they have reasonable cause to assume that they may incriminate themselves, they are jailed for contempt.

Either course can lead to crippling the organization by decapitating its leadership, which is the obvious plan behind this new pattern. If it works in Denver, rumor has it that it will be tried in Utah, Texas and Los Angeles next.

The government must argue that the CP is legal and that therefore no one runs the risk of incriminating himself by answering the questions—in order to make this particular brand of contempt charge stick.

Communists of course agree that their Party is entirely legal and lawful, but Mr. Clark, the Department of Justice and the N. Y. Federal Grand Jury think otherwise.

"The Department of Justice, of which the Grand Jury and Federal Courts are an arm, cannot carry water on both shoulders," the Civil Rights Congress correctly points out.

According to Denver procedure the N. Y. indictments should be dismissed immediately. Judges Bratton and Lymes should be recommended to their colleagues back East.

BUT THE LEGAL contradictions of the case are no help as yet. The fact remains that bail is denied to three people serving contempt sentences. They are dragged in every day for questioning. If charges are cumulative, they'll be in a long time. Others are in danger of the same procedure.

Mrs. Rogers was not even allowed time to see or arrange for her children's care. The tearing apart of this family is the latest attempt to evict them from the Las Casitas Housing project, is creating much indignities among women, the Mexican people who live in the project, and among others.

A Civil Rights Congress was set up here last Friday, and petitions are already circulating demanding bail in these cases.

At the mass meeting Friday night, where I spoke, over $600 was collected to help defend civil rights in Denver. Three street meetings here have been held by the Party. Arthur Bary participated in a Round Table Forum at Albuquerque, N. M., and spoke here on the radio. He also wrote a "Guest Column" which appeared in the Denver Post of Sept.

Life of the Party

30, to reply to misstatements there.

Pictures of the defendants, the meetings and a picket line around the Federal Building on Saturday, Sept. 25, organized by the Progressive Party, appeared in the press.

Arnold Johnson's picture and mine were featured on our visits here. My interview in the Rocky Mt. News bore the challenging headline, "Communist Visitor to Denver says West's Chivalry Is Dead." There is a great deal of local interest and considerable support for this case, which increases daily.

But it is important that the rest of the country be heard from. Let President Truman hear what you think of all this, especially about a mother being snatched from her family. Let Tom Clark hear from you too on the double talk. Let the Denver officials hear from you.

Send copies of your letters or wires to the Denver Post and the Rocky Mt. News.

This city which boasts of being a mile high is still in the U.S.A. Let them hear in Washington and here, hear quickly and firmly from all Americans, regardless of politics, who cherish constitutional rights.

Gov't Double Talks on Franco

the General Assembly in December, 1946.

This fact, viewed along with the campaign of Gurney and Farley which was heartily endorsed today in the Washington Times-Herald and Evening Star, led to the conclusion that the U.S. was leaning noticeably toward friendship for Franco. The reason, as pointed out by the crusaders, was that Franco was vigorously anti-Communist and that the Pyrenees Mountains on Spain's northern border would be useful to the U.S. in an anti-Soviet war.

U.S. retreat from this objective, if retreat it is, was occasioned by the announcement in London that two anti-Franco groups in exile had concluded and signed a formal agreement to work as a coalition government in exile which would ask the western powers for recognition and support. The two factions are headed by Indalecio Prieto, leader of the right wing Social Democrats, and Jose Maria Gil Robles, leader of the Monarchists who want to replace Franco with a king. Representatives of the Spanish Communist Party, which has carried on underground resistance to the Franco dictatorship in Spain, were excluded from the agreement.

SEE U.S. BALKED

Publication of the news of this agreement at this time served notice on Marshall in the most effective possible fashion that he could not count on British or French support for a General Assembly move for rehabilitating Franco. The only possible course left for the U.S. was to disavow responsibility for the pro-Franco campaign and reassert its former position.

To this extent, it would appear that the British have succeeded in blocking what was reported to be the American strategy on the Spanish issue. The fact that the London announcement was made at this precise moment suggests that its timing had this as its aim.

Hostility to Franco is so sharp among members of the British Labor Party that Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin could not accept the State Department's position, even if he wanted to. One commentator here said that he would be driven from office if he did.

There is, however, another explanation of the British action.

Prieto and perhaps Gil Robles are closer to the British than they are to the Americans. A government headed by these two characters could be expected to favor British imperialist interests, especially if they gained power largely through British machinations. And if they do not achieve power, nothing is lost for Britain.

BRITAIN DOMINANT

In both Portugal and Spain, Britain was formerly the most dominant imperialist power. She will, as the present events indicate, hold on to her position doggedly as long as possible.

Some observers believe that the British have actually convinced Marshall that their course in respect to Spain is the wisest and that nothing further will be done either by the U.S. or by Britain for many months. In other words, a stalemate has been reached. Others incline to the view that the U.S. has been forced to back down momentarily from its objective of restoring Franco to the comity of nations but that the State Department will merely bide its time until that opportune moment when it can force Britain to reverse its position.

The State Department has decisive cards up its sleeve, including the ability to provide military supplies for the Western military alliance. It can play those cards whenever it chooses, and under this theory, will play them when a new war "crisis" would make it possible for Bevin to accede without loss of face.

As for this Prieto-Robles government actually taking power, no one gives that a chance. Both the U.S. and Britain are convinced that if there is any major outbreak in Spain, caused by the move to overturn Franco, the Spanish people and Spanish Communists would come to power. Anything is preferable to that, according to their lights.

Wallace

United States must oppose the House of Morgan.

As for Dewey, Wallace accused him of favoring lease of power of the St. Lawrence River in New York "to private companies at low cost, the better to help them to turn it over to the consumers at a high rate and of remaining true to the New York and U. S. Chambers of Commerce" which have long opposed public power.

Wallace observed his birthday with one of his typically hectic campaign days, taking in a press conference, a speech at a local campus, a luncheon and a dinner as well as his major mass meeting at the Benson Technical Auditorium.

Wallace started the day with an early morning airplane flight from San Francisco to Portland over the breathlessly beautiful Sierra and Cascade mountains, over bright blue Crater Lake and white-capped Mt. Shasta.

One of his aides presented him at the plane with a gift of Mexican records and a carton of tennis balls. Both presents were in recognition of two of Wallace's principal hobbies.

CITES VANPORT TRAGEDY

Wallace, in his evening meeting, paid tribute to the victims of the Vanport tragedy, which he attributed to "callous" disregard of human needs.

Wallace charged that monopoly interests are "plotting to keep the West in a semi-colonial status." He linked the misuse of atomic energy with the throttling of public power and the grabbing of natural resources of the West by the robber barons.

The use of atomic energy for war, said Wallace, is even more serious than "the pillage" of the West by the robber barons. He said it can only be called "murder—the murder of our civilization."

Wallace urged peacetime development of atomic energy, and greeted the "concession" of Soviet UN delegate Andrei Vishinsky on this issue of curbing the use of the atomic bomb for war.

He criticized Warren Austin, UN delegate of the U. S., for characterizing the Soviet proposal as "an oriental maneuver."

This, said Wallace, is "a rank appeal to prejudice and it is based on a prejudice against all the people of the East."

Wallace paid a warm tribute to General Evans Carlson, who died in his cabin near here, and to his widow, Peggy, now running for Congress in the third district of Oregon.

Foster

Davis, over the American Broadcasting Company network (P. 47):

"There is hysteria, in Washington and in the country; the Thomas Committee has helped whip it up, so has the not very well-informed clamor of some Congressmen outside that committee; and the result is that we are making ourselves ridiculous in the eyes of the world."

COMPOSITION OF JURY

"Moreover, the selection and composition of this Grand Jury paved the way for those who were seeking these indictments. Not a single member of the laboring group in the community were on the panel from which the Grand Jury herein were finally selected. Not a single Negro was on the Grand Jury which returned these indictments.

"There appears to have been a systematic exclusion of all working people and all members of the colored race from the Grand Jury, a matter which requires this Court's careful inquiry. The Grand Jury was composed almost in its entirety of Executives, Manufacturers, Brokers, banking officials, large realty owners, business men and professionals. Almost 50 percent of the jurors resided in prosperous suburban areas of Westchester and Rockland Counties. Nearly all were persons in high economic brackets, owners, directors or highly placed officials of substantial business corporations.

"In one executive capacity or another, members of the Grand Jury were associated with the following companies: Saw Mill Supply Company, Yonkers, N. Y.; Greenwich Savings Bank; Charles P. Fenlon Co., Inc.; Hybrand Textiles; Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.; Nehring Bros.; Spero Whitelaw & Co.; Universal Atlas Cement Co. There should be included a resident of Nyack who was retired; a broker, resident of Scarsdale; the owner of an insurance business who resided in Larchmont; a banking and business consultant with residence at Riverdale.

THE REAL CONSPIRACY

"The real conspiracy today is the unholy wedlock of reactionary forces in and out of government to destroy the liberties of the American people, the fundamental and absolute right of the people to advocate social, economic and political charges. These indictments here are a clear manifestation of that conspiracy.

"There is fear by men in high station of the growing opposition of the people to governmental policies which clearly lead to war, to depression, to insecurity, to loss of precious fundamental liberties. Every lawful method is being used to still the opposition of the American people by denying them the basic right to oppose governmental policies which are detrimental to the people's interests.

"The indictments here are a part of the real conspiracy against the American people. The indictments are directed against a political party which has fearlessly and incessantly fought that conspiracy, a party which has been forthright and outspoken in the defense of the struggle of the American people for peace and friendship in a peaceful world, for security, for equality, for the rights of labor, for the essential freedoms of human beings.

ernment's unprecedented indictments of ideas during the day.

This indictment of ideas—the first of its kind in American history—is simply a witch-hunting, heresy-hunting drive against the principles of freedom on which America was founded, said Attorney A. J. Isserman.

And Attorney David Goldstein compared the indictments of the ideas of Foster and Dennis and their colleagues to the laws against "dangerous thoughts" in Imperial Japan.

Isserman got the floor yesterday morning to rebut the arguments of Assistant District Attorney David Gordon, who had tried to brush off defense demands for a Bill of Particulars.

INDICTMENTS VAGUE

Isserman had denounced the indictments in his original argument as ridiculously vague. It was impossible to prepare a defense, he said, unless the government got down to facts in its charges. The indictment failed to specify a single criminal ACT by the 12 Communist leaders. They were accused merely of advocating "Marxism-Leninism" and conspiring to advocate it.

And, he charged, the prosecution had brushed off the whole philosophy of Marx and Lenin with a fantastic one-line definition that it was a "doctrine" that advocated the "overthrow" of the government of the United States by "force and violence."

As part of his reply to this distortion and confusion, Isserman had submitted an affidavit on the philosophy of Marxism-Leninism by Carl Winter, one of the defendants, who quoted Lenin as saying that Marxism had continued and combined—

"... classical German philosophy, classical English political economy and French socialism, combined with French revolutionary doctrines."

DIGS INTO HISTORY

Gordon gleefully picked up the reference to Marxism and "French revolutionary doctrines" as tending to prove the charges against the American Communist Party.

Isserman caustically replied that the government had to fall back on the French revolution in its prosecution of an American party against which it had failed to present any facts.

Gordon had also invented the charge of advocating "armed insurrection" in his diatribe against the Communist Party.

Isserman sharply reminded him that "insurrection" was not mentioned in the indictment.

Isserman repeatedly blasted the Government's "vulgarization of principles and doctrines."

In not one line of the indictments, however, had the Government specified a single act, or even a single word by any defendant relating to overthrow of the Government by force and violence, he said.

The Government evidently intends, said Isserman, to "throw in everything into its witch-hunt during the trial," without giving the defense a chance to prepare.

Judge Hulbert indicated at one point that he might postpone the trial beyond the Oct. 15 date, that the Government had set. He would not permit the trial to proceed until he had had time to study the written arguments on the case fully.

STRESSES IMPORTANCE

The court emphasized the importance of the case in his remarks to counsel on both sides, and took part in the discussion on several occasions.

Freedman opened the defense's constitutional argument by vigorously stating that the 12 Communist leaders have publicly announced their opposition to propaganda for the overthrow of government by force and violence again and again.

All this is well known to the Government, he pointed out.

He emphasized the free speech amendment to the Constitution as an affirmation of a right that already belonged to the people.

Judge Hulbert remarked at this point that the Constitution would not have been adopted unless the [freedom] amendments were accepted.

DROPPED 120 YEARS AGO

Freedman said that the prosecution of men for ideas had been dropped for 120 years after the repeal of the Alien and Sedition Acts, because such actions were so foreign to the ways of the American people.

He quoted Justice Robert Jackson of the U. S. Supreme Court as saying: "No official, high or petty can proscribe what is orthodox" in politics or religion in this country.

Congress, he said, never had the power under the Constitution, to pass such an act as the Smith Act of 1940, under which the 12 Communists have been indicted on the basis solely of ideas, with no overt acts alleged.

The defendants, he said, are fighting now to protect the next generation against the suppression of ideas. . . . Former generations had the right to think and express themselves, he said, recalling the 100 years in which Marxism had been taught in this country.

"You can't indict an ideology," the defense lawyer told the Government prosecutors.

Judge Hulbert at one point referred to the Ku Klux Klan, as an organization with an ideology too.

Freedman replied that the Klan did not merely have an ideology. It was also hanging people.

WILL GIVE DECISIONS

The Court emphasized that he would give a decision on the motions for the dismissal of the indictments. He left open, however, the question whether he would rule on the constitutionality of the Smith Act. He once declared an important law unconstitutional, he said, and Congress changed the law to comply with his criticisms.

The district judge's power to rule on constitutional questions was limited, he said.

WALLACE HAILS STRIKERS AS PATRIOTS

have now become virtually the Government of our nation, are more interested in the re-establishment of Nazi power in Germany and in war scare profits than in continuing negotiations for peace in Europe.

I know of one man who has been a member of the union since it began, who received six knife wounds during the 1934 strike. He's walking a picket line today, while employers fight to take away all the gains he's won since 1934. And while the shipping companies were making fabulous profits during the war, this longshoreman did not share in those profits. He was fighting a war in the New Hebrides. He enlisted because he looked upon the war overseas as the same as the war he had been fighting within the union. He is determined that we will not lose both wars, or either war. I share his determination, and, I know he's right.

Incidentally, I wonder how the shipping lines reconcile their insinuations against the patriotism of their striking workers, with the fact that the Marine Cooks and Stewards suffered a higher casualty rate on a percentage basis than any branch of the armed services.

And this longshoreman and myself, and all of you, we are not alone. The yellow press and the paid croakers of doom on the radio would like to create doubt in our minds. They would like to make it seem that we are a tiny band, hopelessly outnumbered and doomed to defeat. But the very hysteria which they manifest is clear indication of their fears. They dread the thought of an American government which is truly for the people. They cling to the skirts of a Truman or a Dewey, who at best, talk from both sides of their mouth, but never act against the interests of Wall Street.

Kitchen Kues

CREAMED PEAS AND ONIONS

Select small white onions for creaming. Wash and peel onions. Meanwhile, place ½ inch boiling water in a saucepan; add ½ tsp. salt and 1 pound white onions. Cook covered, for 15 minutes or until tender. Drain off onion liquid. Melt 3 tbsp. margarine in a saucepan; add 1 tsp. salt, pepper and flour and stir until smooth. Gradually add evaporated milk diluted with onion liquid; and simmer while stirring constantly, until smooth and thickened. Add cooked onions and a can of drained green peas.

FOOD TIP

The flesh of fresh fish is firm and elastic; the eyes are full—not sunken and the gills a reddish pink. Allow ¼ lb. dressed fish for each serving.

A TRIBUTE to the great Chilean poet Pablo Neruda (above) will take place this Sunday, Oct. 10, at 4:30 p.m., at Club Obrero Espanol, 1490 Madison Ave. (102 St.), New York City. The Mexican novelist German List Arzubide will speak on "Neruda and the Congress of Intellectuals at Warsaw" to which he was a delegate. The Chilean actress Felicia Montealegre will discuss "Neruda the Poet and the Man." Other speakers will be M. Magana, Bernardo Vega, Juan Emmanelli, Leonard Harris. Ben Ossa will be chairman. As an added attraction the famous Inka Trio will perform authentic Chilean and Peruvian folk music. The entire program is in Spanish.

Horses With Padded Hips and Other Film-Land Oddities

By David Platt

THE new look has come to the animal kingdom in movie-land. In Metro's new film The Three Musketeers the horses are padded in the hips. One nag wears wig and face makeup. Soon Lassie may be sporting a toupee.

ATTENTION PARNELL THOMAS: Investigate Akim Tamiroff. He claims he keeps his sensitive skin from getting irritated by fake whiskers (when he needs them for screen roles) by rubbing it with vodka.

CHEESECAKE DEPARTMENT: The Johnston Office is blowing its top about one scene between Jane Russell and Bob Hope in Paramount's The Paleface. On the set of Cecil De Mille's Samson and Delilah, leg art is known as crotch shots.

TAILORED TO FIT: Recently, a costume company catering to film and theatre people was asked by the producer of a new film being shot in New York to dirty up a trunkful of new costumes. The producer instructed the tailors to make them look thoroughly soiled and worn. "I know I can count on you to do a beautiful job" was his parting shot to the costumers. The cleaners took the job of thoroughly and beautifully uncleaning the new costumes.

FOR SPORTS ADDICTS: A bunch of professional football greats will see action in Columbia's gridiron epic Triple Threat including: Sammy Baugh, Bob 'WITHOUT PREJUDICE': Sergel Kurilov, as the 19th century Russian explorer Miklukho-Maclay, discovers startling proof of the equality of races in this scene from Artkino's 'Without Prejudice,' new Soviet film opening at the Stanley Theatre, Saturday, Oct. 9.

Waterfield, Sid Luckman, Boley Dancevicz, Paul Christman, Paul Governali, Steve Van Buren, Indian Jack Jacobs and Charlie Trippi. The National Football League cooperated on the film. Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox star, may do a bit of acting in Hollywood this winter.

TALKING ABOUT SPORTS, the J. Arthur Rank film on the 1948 Olympics in London recalls the movie of the 1936 Berlin Olympics which Hitler's girl friend Leni Riefenstahl once offered to British film distributors. The movies were reluctantly turned down as being Nazi propaganda. In those days—and now too—the British movie moguls refused to accept any fascist propaganda unless it came directly from 10 Downing Street.

FILMS IN PROGRESS: Fred De Piano has acquired the rights to The Little Flower, life story of Florella H. LaGuardia from the late New York Mayor's estate and is preparing it for the screen. De Piano is a long time friend of LaGuardia.

ANOTHER COLD-WAR film inspired by Hearst newspaper headlines about our country's "immediate and grim peril" in Alaska is in the works. James S. Burkett will produce and Film Classics (the anti-Soviet farce Sofia was one of theirs) will release Alaska Patrol, about "Russian espionage."

Walt Whitman and the People's Movement

In 1856, at a time when a third political party was struggling for expression in America, Walt Whitman, famous American poet, put into type a paper entitled "The Eighteenth Presidency." It was not printed until 1928, when it was included in a volume of Whitman's previously-unpublished manuscripts.

Because of its relevance to the present political scene the paper was reprinted by Trends & Tides, a publication edited by Louis Adamic. For the same reason a portion is reprinted here.

By Walt Whitman

TODAY, of all the persons in public office in the States, not one in a thousand has been chosen by any spontaneous movement of the people; all have been nominated and put through by a great or small caucus of the politicians, or appointed as rewards for electioneering. . . . The berths, the Presidency included, are bought, sold, electioneered for.

Well, what more? Is nothing but breed upon breed like these to be represented in the Presidency? Are parties to forever usurp the government? . . . Where is the real America? Where are the laboring persons, ploughmen, men with axes, spades, scythes, flails? Where are the carpenters, masons, machinists, drivers of horses, workmen in factories? Where is the spirit of the manliness and common-sense of These States? It does not appear in the government. It does not appear at all in the Presidency.

INSULTED . . . BETRAYED

Never were publicly displayed more deformed, mediocre, sniveling, unreliable, falsehearted men! Never were These States so insulted, and attempted to be betrayed! All the main purposes for which government was established are openly denied.

Whence the delegates of the politicians? Whence the Buchanan and Fillmore conventions? Not from sturdy American freemen; not from industrious homes; not from thrifty farms; not from the ranks of fresh-bodied young men; not from among teachers, poets, savants, learned persons, beloved persons, temperate persons; not from among shipbuilders, engineers, agriculturists, scythe-swingers, cornhoers. Not from the race of mechanics; not from that great stock of Southerners that supplied the land in old times; not from the real West; the log-hut, the clearing, the woods, the prairie, the hill-side; not from the sensible, generous, rude California miners; not from the best specimens of Massachusetts, Maine, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, Wisconsin, Indiana, nor from the untainted, unpolitical citizens of the cities.

Whence, then, do these nominating dictators of America year after year start out? From lawyer's offices, secret lodges, backyards, bedhouses, and bar-rooms; from out of the custom-houses, marshals' offices, post-offices, and gambling halls; from the President's house, the jail, the venerable hospital, the station-house; from unnamed byplaces where devilish disunion is hatched at midnight; from political hearers, and from the coffins inside, and from the shrouds inside the coffins; from the tumors and abscesses of the land; from the skeletons and skulls in the vaults of the federal almshouses, from the running sores of the great cities; thence to the national, state, city and district nominating conventions of These States, come the most numerous and controlling delegates.

Who are they personally? Officeholders, office-seekers, robbers, pimps, exclusives, malignants, conspirators, murderers, fancy-men, portmasters, custom-house clerks, contractors, kept-editors . . . crawling, serpentine men, the lousy combings and born freedom-sellers of the earth.

YOU UNDERSTAND NOT

You Americans who travel with such men, or who are nominated on tickets anywhere with them, or who support them at meetings or write for them in newspapers, or who believe that any good can come out of them, you also understand not the present age, the fibre of it, the countless current it brings of American young men, a different race. All this effervescence is not for nothing; the friendlier, vaster, more vital modern spirit, hardly yet arrived at definite proportions, or to the knowledge of itself, will have the mastery. The like turmoil prevails in the expressions of literature, manners, trade, and other departments.

What is there in prospect for free farmers and work-people? A few generations ago, the general run of farmers and work-people like us were slaves, serfs, deprived of their liberty by law; they are still so deprived on some parts of the continent of Europe. Today, those who are free here, and free in the British Islands and elsewhere, are free through deeds that were done, and men that lived, some of them many ages ago. The men and deeds of these days also decide for generations ahead, as past men and deeds decided for us.

As the broad fat states of the West, the largest and best parts of the inheritance of the American farmers and mechanics, were ordained to common people and workmen long in advance by Jefferson, Washington, and the earlier Congress, now a far ampler West is to be ordained. Is it to be ordained to workmen, or to the masters of workmen? Shall the future mechanics of America be serfs. Shall labor be degraded. . . . ?

Whenever the day comes for him to appear, the man who shall be the Redeemer President of These States, is to be the one that fullest realizes the rights of The States, the substratum of the Union. The Redeemer President of These States is not to be exclusive, but inclusive. In both physical and political America there is plenty of room for the whole human race; if not, more room can be provided.

CHANGE WILL COME

Everything indicates unparalleled reforms. Races are marching and counter-marching by swift millions. Never was justice so mighty amid injustice; never did the idea of equality erect itself so haughty and uncompromising amid inequality, as today. Never were such sharp questions asked as today. Never was there more eagerness to know. Never was the representative man more energetic, more like a god, than today. He urges on the myriads before him. . . . He re-states history, he enlarges morality, he speculates anew upon the soul. . . .

What whispers are these running through the eastern continents, and crossing the Atlantic and Pacific? What historic documents are these we are approaching? On all sides tyrants tremble, crowns are unsteady, the human race restive, on the watch for some better era. . . . No man knows what will happen next, but all know that some such things are to happen as mark the greatest moral convulsions of the earth. Who shall play the hand for America in these tremendous games?

A Rich Treasury of Soviet Literature

By Robert Friedman

RUSSIAN LITERATURE SINCE THE REVOLUTION, edited by Joshua Kunitz, is the first comprehensive anthology of Soviet writers to be published in a long, long time. It is unique too, in that it has been edited with a sympathetic understanding of the purposes of the new Soviet society, with recognition for its massive achievements.

Included in this 932-page treasury of Soviet literature are four novels: One, The Nineteen, by A. Fadayev, in its entirety; 20 short stories, four essays and 22 poems. Among writers represented are Sholokhov, Romanov, Babel, Gorki, Ehrenbourg, Iif and Petrov, Sobolev, Alexei Tolstoy, Simonov, Mayakovsky, Blok, Katayev, Leonov, Lenin, Stalin, as well as others lesser known to American readers.

In addition to Fadayev's novel, there are substantial excerpts from Sholokhov's Seeds of Tomorrow and Katayev's The Embassadors.

The anthology is divided into four chronological sections, War-time Communism (1917-21), The

New Economic Policy (1921-27), Industrialization: The Five Year Plans (1928-40) and War and The Postwar Period (1941-48).

The editor has integrated the four sections with forewords to each, giving a brief summary of Soviet developments during the particular period. An introduction discusses Soviet literature as a "mirror of Soviet life."

Surge and Vitality

The outstanding impression afforded by this anthology is the undiminished surge and vitality of the bulk of its selections, the high literary excellence of those poems, stories and novels which both described and helped to create the new Soviet man in the first socialist state.

In his introduction, Joshua Kunitz asserts: "It is fair to assert that as long as Soviet art and literature are freely accessible, no reader of imagination can complain about riddles, enigmas, mysteries, walls and iron curtains. As long as Soviet citizens sing, paint, act, compose, and write literature for all the world to hear, see and read, nothing can obscure their unfolding spirit, nothing can hide their most intimate feelings and thought—nothing except bias can prevent the world's communion with them."

If that "reader of imagination" will read Soviet Literature Since The Revolution, he will find it difficult to assess the Russian literary output of the last 30 years as inferior in any way to that of any other nation in the world.

Effects of War Obvious

It is fashionable for anti-Soviet hacks today to concede the achievements of Soviet writers during the first years of socialism if only to contrast them with the alleged absence of similar fruitfulness during the late war and immediately thereafter.

Yet after the first impact of the Nazi invasion, there was a great outpouring of stories, plays, and particularly poems from Soviet writers—despite the fact that most Russian writers were at the front, either as soldiers, war correspondents or editors of soldiers' papers.

And if little of this wartime literature could measure up to let us say a Silent Don, Ilya Ehrenbourg in a speech delivered to Soviet writers in 1943 took cognizance of the question: "Why is it we haven't a War and Peace of the present war?" He said: "Art requires time." And he assured: "The day will come when we shall see mature books born of suffering of these days. They will be written by authors who lived through the events of these years with the people."

The works presented in this anthology give additional assurance that, just as the continuity of socialist development in Russia has remained unbroken, so too the fountain springs of Soviet literature have not run dry but will continue to be enriched.

Here are presented the best examples of a new kind of literature, what Gorki described as "socialist realism," not the critical realism which can "only assist us in depicting the defects of the past" but an art which participates actively in the formation of the socialist individual.

Everyone has quarrels with an anthologist. One may wonder why this one neglected Ostrowsky's Making of a Hero, Sholokhov's Don, or any example of Soviet drama. Others may deplore the absence of their favorite work.

But by and large every significant work of Soviet literature is represented. The editor has, in addition, offered a selective guide to the works of Soviet writers.

Russian Literature Since the Revolution is a bonanza both for those who have read widely of Soviet authors and those who have not. For the latter particularly, to go through this anthology should be exciting experience, one to whet the appetite for more.

Warm humanity, hope, ruthlessly honest self-criticism run through the pages of this book. If millions of Americans could read—in an atmosphere unpoisoned by the cold warmakers—what the Soviet writer has set down about the kind of world he builds and wants—our press lords would have to go peddle their papers elsewhere.

Town Meeting Debates Peace With Soviet Union

By Bob Lauter

NORMAN THOMAS, Arthur Bliss Lane, Max Lerner, and O. John Rogge, discussed the question, "How is peace with Russia possible?" on the last Town Meeting of the Air. (WJZ-ABC, 8:30 P.M., Tuesdays).

Norman Thomas, who has now established himself firmly as George V. Denny's Number One Boy, opened the program with attacks on "Communist aggression," "appeasement of the Kremlin," and all the other catchphrases so dear to the hearts of our Governor Earls. Then, in order to establish some difference between his own philosophy and that of General Marshall (who isn't, after all, a "socialist"), Thomas admitted that he detected "elements of militarism and imperialism in our foreign policy."

His call for universal disarmament was unadulterated demagoguery, coming as it did on the heels of his statement that he supports the position of western powers in the U.N.

Thomas made proposals which he claimed would make peace possible. One of these proposals clearly demonstrates why Thomas is so valuable to American monopoly today, and why they are spending so much time and money in building him up again. Thomas wants people to form a new organization to be called Friends of Freedom. Such an organization is supposed to spread enlightenment here and behind the "iron curtain." It is, in effect, to be an international anti-socialist agency. The "Project X" specialists of the State Department will certainly welcome and support it. Such support might well be more than moral.

O. JOHN ROGGE, who followed Thomas, made what I thought was an excellent talk, with one exception. Rogge took the offensive immediately. He spoke of Thomas as a man "misbranded" a socialist. He denied that fascism and Communism are the same thing. He reviewed AMG policy in Germany, the bolstering and support of Nazi elements there, and made the charge that our State Department wants a united Germany only if it is all Nazi. He hit away at the Administration's policy in Greece, China, and Palestine. He accused foreign policy makers of trying to sell us the same goldbrick that the Nazis sold the German people. He exposed the tweedledum-tweedledee character of the two major parties.

Rogge won enthusiastic applause, and enthusiastic booing, which was to be expected. A fighting speech got a fighting response. His mistake, I believe, was in charging that Norman Thomas was, to all effects, another Gerald L. K. Smith. There is a difference between a social-democrat and a fascist (although the social-democrat turned fascist is certainly nothing new). Yet such an audience as that which attends these meetings is not equipped sufficiently with the history and record of social-democracy to accept such a charge

'Along the Avenue,' New Musical

THE TITLE of Arthur Lesser's Fifth Avenue has been changed to Along the Avenue. Willie Howard and Nancy Walker are starred. Tom Adair has done the lyrics and tunes are by Gordon Jenkins, composer of the musical tribute to the charms of New York, Manhattan Towers. Additional music and lyrics are by Richard Stutz and Milton Pascal. Charles Sherman and Nat Hiken have contributed the sketches. The show is slated to open in Boston Nov. 18 where it will run for 2½ weeks before coming to Broadway.

Maurice Schwartz's first production of the season The Voice of Israel by Elias Gliner has gone into rehearsal. A story of contemporary life in Palestine, it premiered in Buenos Aires in Sept. and played about three weeks to a packed house. Headed by Mr. Schwartz, the cast includes Charlotte Goldstein, Rosette Bialis, Antole Winogradoff, Anna Appel and Morris Strassberg. Music is by Joseph Rumshinsky. The play is scheduled to open Oct. 25 at the Yiddish Art Theatre.

With Edward My Son apparently set, producers Gilbert Miller and Henry Sherek are looking for a new product to fill the empty Henry Miller theatre. Miller is departing for Los Angeles to give Eurydice a look-see and consideration for possible Broadway production. This is the Jean Anouilh play being staged by the Actors Company of Hollywood. It is supposed to open in L. A. Oct. 14.

In January Miller is expected to be off for London to prepare the opening of Antigone, another Jean Anouilh drama. Laurence Olivier may play the lead.

J. Van Drew announced that the Magic City Repertory Co. will take over the James Madison Playhouse in November. The group opens its third season at the Rivington Playhouse on Oct. 26 with The Second Man to be followed by The Straggler, The Beer and The School for Wives.

One night stands in New York and a road tour in May are also scheduled. TRACY.

Indians 9-20 In 3rd Game

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 7 (UP).—James J. Carroll, nationally-known betting authority, today shortened the odds on the Cleveland Indians to win the World Series to 1 to 3 and made them a 9 to 20 choice to win the third game, if Gene Bearden pitches.

If Bearden starts against Boston's Vern Bickford, the Indian rooters would have to lay $20 to make $9 on the third game. Boston bettors could get $9 to their $5.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1490 is designed for waist sizes 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44. Size 30 requires 1 1/2 yards of 35 or 39-inch fabric for each style.

For this pattern, send 25 cents in coins, your name, address, pattern number and size wanted to Barbara Bell, Daily Worker, 35 E. 12th St., New York 3. Pattern will be delivered within 3 weeks.

'We'll End It At Home' Chortle Indians

BOSTON, Oct. 7. — Confident was the word for the Cleveland Indians tonight.

They roared into their dressing room after squaring the world series at one game each and it was apparent they figured they had the Boston Braves over a barrel.

"It's Gene Bearden tomorrow, I don't know who on Saturday and then Bob Feller on Sunday," manager Lou Boudreau chortled happily, and it was obvious that the smiling shortstop expected that to be all.

"Big one tomorrow," Lou yelled, and everybody let out a cheer.

Bearden, the handsome hurler who goes to the hill tomorrow, hardly looked up from his dressing.

"Just another ball game," grunted the guy who beat the mighty Boston Red Sox in the American League playoff to put Cleveland into the series. "They can't be as tough as those Red Sox. They don't have the power."

Players congratulated blue-eyed Bob Lemon for his eight-hit victory, but it was perfunctory. They felt just as did Bearden. They were on their way to their home park, rushing to catch a train, and they figured they'd wind it up quickly once they reached Cleveland.

Lemon, toweling himself vigorously after a speedy shower, admitted that he had been "scared to death" when he went out to pitch but said he "got over it quickly."

"I've had lots rougher games than this one," he asserted. "I got the runs and that pick off play picked me up."

He was referring to that first inning when, with one out, one run in against him and two men on, he whipped a strike to Boudreau at second to pick off big Earl Torgeson.

"That was only my second pick-off of the season," Lemon laughed, "and it was the best."

Across the room Boudreau was peeling off the black turtle-neck sweater he wears under his uniform shirt, and explaining that the secret of the play was in its timing.

"But I'd rather wait until after the Series is over to explain the play," Boudreau chuckled.

All of the players were anxious to get home to Cleveland and Ken Keltner, the hard-hitting third baseman, explained the reason.

"We'll hit better there," he said. "They won't."

And Bearden, shrugging into a topcoat added:

"I suppose somebody will knock my brains out for saying so, but I don't think they'll be tough. After pitching to guys like Ted Williams and Vern Stephens I can't see much to worry about."

It was clear that they thought there would be three more games—and then a nice long winter's rest to count their World Series winnings.

N. W., Lions Picked Tom'w

Northwestern was established a one-touchdown favorite over Minnesota and Michigan a bare 1½ point choice over Purdue yesterday as Big Nine football hit the hot stage.

The high-riding Northwestern crew knew it could not licked Minnesota with the same tactics that sent Purdue by the boards last week, for those continuous fullback slants off tackle might not work against the Gibraltar Minnesota line.

Purdue, beaten by Notre Dame, beaten by Northwestern, faces a final chance to pop back into the run for the roses, the Tournament of Roses, that is.

Army's surprising Cadets were made a six and a half point choice over Illinois.

Indiana is a seven point choice to whip Texas Christian, Ohio State is favored by 13 over Iowa, Kansas is 12 over Iowa State, Notre Dame 19 over Michigan State and Southern Methodist's bowl-bent Southwest conference champion rule 10 over Missouri, the team which trampled St. Louis by a 60-7 count last week.

In the South, North Carolina, with booming wins over Texas and Georgia, goes after Wake Forest a 14-point choice despite injuries to blocking back Don Hartig and wingback Bill Flamish. Duke is favored by six over Navy, Georgia by 7 over Kentucky, Tulane by 7 over South Carolina, and LSU by 14 over Texas A&M.

California, on home grounds, was rated a 10-point favorite to whip Wisconsin and thereby give the West Coast its first triumph over the steam-roller Big Nine in inter-sectional competition this season. Southern Cal is 6 over Rice and UCLA 1½ over Washington.

In the East, Columbia was six points over Yale despite the Lion loss to Harvard last week. Harvard was an even-money bet against Cornell, while Holy Cross was six over Dartmouth and Penn 13 over Princeton.

CLOUTS SPAHN

LARRY DOBY whacked the first hit off Warren Spahn, a ringing double, and followed with a run producing single, proving that good lefthanded hitters can hit lefthanded pitching.

INDIANS EVEN SERIES

infield out sent the runners to second and third but Holmes bounced weakly to Lemon to end that threat.

In the third Dark led off with a single but Lemon got the next three batters in order. Things looked a little brighter in the fourth when Salkeld walked and Mike McCormick dumped a single back of second base. Stanky's sacrifice put the runners on second and third, but Spahn grounded out and once more Holmes left everybody stranded by flying to left-fliedler Mitchell.

The opportunities were few and far between thereafter. McCormick got another single in the sixth after Salkeld drew his second walk. But a fast double play, started by Boudreau, cut the Braves off.

In the ninth, when there were two out, Stanky delivered the Braves' first extra hit of the Series, a double to center, but pinch hitter Ray Sanders bounced out to end the ball game.

Holmes, though he was not much shucks at the plate, contributed the fielding gem of the series to date, pulling Barrett out of a hole in the sixth. After first baseman Eddie Robinson had singled with one out, Hegan drilled a liner to right that looked good for extra bases. Holmes raced over and grabbed it with a leaping glove-hand catch, then a throw to Torgeson to double up Robinson.

Boudreau, whose hitting and fielding was a highlight today, also gained a measure of revenge for a play that misfired yesterday. In the first inning when the Braves were going strong, Lemon wheeled around and threw to Boudreau to pick Torgeson off second base, cutting short their rally.

It was exactly the same kind of a play as yesterday when Bob Feller

BATTLE OF ROOKIES TODAY

Lefty Gene Bearden, the rookie who pitched the clutch playoff game with the Red Sox Monday, is Lou Boudreau's choice to face the Braves today at Cleveland. For Boston it's another rookie, righthander Vern Bickford, who finished the season with brilliant low hit victories over the Dodgers and Giants.

threw to Boudreau in an effort to pick off pinch-runner Phil Masi. Boudreau, who will insist to his dying day that Masi was out, got the wrong end of the decision from umpire Bill Stewart. But today there was no question about Torgeson being out.

In fact, shortly after that there was no question about which team would be the winner. The Indians had it today—the Braves didn't.

Cool Weather At Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Oct. 7 (UP). — Cloudy, windy and cool was the forecast for tomorrow's third game of the World Series.

The weather bureau added there would be "very little chance of rain" tomorrow when the site of the series shifts from Boston to here.

The forecaster said the temperature would be in the 50's and the wind probably would average about 20 miles per hour.

INDIANS EVEN IT, 4-1

Break Loose to Rout Spahn As Lemon Holds Off Braves

BOSTON, Oct. 7.—Batted out of the box in his last four American League appearances, Bob Lemon came through brilliantly to pitch the Cleveland Indians to a 4-1 victory over the Boston Braves today and even the World Series at one game apiece. A master in the clutch, the former infielder yielded one run in the first inning and then settled down, scattering eight hits. He gained power as he went along, setting down the National Leaguers with three safeties in the last five frames. It was his first victory in over a month.

After 12 innings of futility at the plate, during which they not only couldn't score but couldn't even get a man to third base, the Indian batters came out of hibernation in the fourth inning.

The Braves had a 1 to 0 lead, the margin by which they won yesterday's game, and it was beginning to loom very since lefty Warren Spahn was doing a very effective job on the mound.

But Cleveland's old pros, Manager Lou Boudreau and Joe Gordon, finally got to work.

Boudreau, who had gone hitless in five straight times at bat during the series, was up first in the fourth and he lashed one of Spahn's curves for a double deep down the right field foul line. Gordon took the cue and followed with a single that tied the score at 1-all as Boudreau streaked home, not even bothering to slide.

Gordon hustled to second on the throw to the plate. Then, after Ken Keltner flied out, Larry Doby provided an exact repeat of Gordon's right that put the Indians ahead to stay. Gordon, like Boudreau, came home without a slide and Doby flashed down to second despite a cut-off of the throw home.

That was all for then and it would have been enough for the day because Lemon, the kid who cried in the Cleveland dressing room when he lost a tough game to Detroit during the stretch drive, made it plain that he would have to shed no tears today.

TIME AFTER TIME, when the Braves got men on the bases, he just rared back and threw a very elegant fast ball that overpowered the hitters. Along with it he slipped in curves and sliders so that the Boston batters were a study in futility trying to do something about his assortment.

Cleveland made the lead a little safer in the fifth when Dale Mitchell pinged a line single into left field to start the inning. Allie Clark sent him along to second with a sacrifice bunt and Boudreau, not to be denied today, got his second hit in as many innings—a single that literally blasted Spahn off the mound and brought Clark home with the run that made it 3 to 1.

The hit went through the Lefty like a shot and rocketed into center field. At that juncture, Manager Billy Southworth decided that discretion was the better part of valor for Spahn and told the young man to take the rest of the afternoon off.

He was replaced by Charley Barrett, who stopped the Indians until he was lifted for a pinch hitter in the seventh.

LEMON WHO HAS had a long record of unhappy situations in the majors, capitalized today on his past experience as an infielder by fielding his position brilliantly. He tied a 42-year-old World Series record for pitchers by making three put-outs. And he also had four assists, nimbly pouncing on bounders and throwing the batters out without difficulty.

For a very brief time today it looked as if the Braves would have the wherewithal to make it two victories in a row over the Indians.

That was in the first inning when Gordon bobbled an easy grounder by Dark. Earl Torgeson followed with a single that sent Dark to third and Bob Elliott delivered a second single to score Dark with the first run of the game.

The Braves had scoring chances in each of the next three innings but couldn't do anything about it. Tommy Holmes, who drove in the only run of yesterday's game, twice was an oversized bust.

In the second catcher Bill Salkeld singled and went to second when Eddie Stanky walked. Spahn's

NOTHING SPECTACULAR, MATES

BOSTON, Oct. 7.—The freight cars chugging through behind Braves field made more noise than either of the combatants in this second game of the autumnal classic. And you hardly heard a peep out of the fans all afternoon. Oh, but it was a quiet ball game. As unspectacular in its noiseless routine as the Feller-Sain duel remains hauntingly vivid to every man, woman and child who sat in on that eventful opener.

Maybe it's just as well the Braves win pennants at 34-year intervals, because Braves Field is a pitcher's paradise and them that likes to take a dose of fireworks with their World Series can't have it here. Especially in the fall, when that chill October wind comes blowing in from the river right behind the outfield fence to make any kind of loud base knock a rarity.

And that's how she shapes up as the Indians and Braves push on to Cleveland tied at 1-all. Yesterday Johnny Sain got the best of Feller in a super-brilliant pitchers' battle in this pitchers' ball park. And today Bob Lemon was too much pitcher for Warren Spahn in another low-scoring affair that became pretty much of a one-sided affair after the fourth frame. Spahn wasn't even around at the finish, so you couldn't even rightly call it a duel.

This converted outfielder, Lemon, pitched a ball game typical of the kind that made him such an asset when the Tribe found themselves with an ineffectual Feller for most of the season. The kind of noiseless pitching that may not be too fascinating to watch, but nonetheless the kind that brought him 20 vital victories and Cleveland its pennant. The big righthander gets along further with fewer pitches than any other thrower in the majors. A fast ball and a curve. That's all. But the fast one is good and fast and the curve—a routine curve ball compared to the kind Sain and Feller and Rex Barney throw—but still a curve that is so artfully placed that the batters can't put any real wood to it.

All of which, when you get right down to it, makes Mister Robert Lemon of San Bernardino, Calif., a better pitcher than he looks. Sort of reminds one of Frank Shea, the 1947 Shea that is, not the one-horse shay that fell apart this past season. The Connecticut kid never seemed to be throwing a heck of a lot, but there he was winning steadily and never giving up more than a half-dozen hits or so. What I mean was Lemon yielding no more than one hit per inning today after being touched up for successive singles by Torgeson and Elliott in the first inning. For Boston's only run, an unearned one at that, because big Bob would've had himself a shutout but for Joe Gordon's bobble of Dark's simple grounder.

Not Spahn's Day

SPAHN? WELL, HE just didn't have it. There are some folks who'll tell you the picturesque lefthander is overrated, that he looks good only against a handful of clubs, and the Dodgers particularly. I don't know. The Dodgers were the club Boston had to beat for the flag—and if that's what Warren did that makes him good enough in my book.

But not good enough for the Indians of this second series shindig. And it reminds me that graying Pie Traynor called the shots on this game. Dining last night with the old master, he first paid expansive tribute to Sain's performance and then predicted, "But I don't think Spahn's going to do as well tomorrow. The Indians will get to him for one big inning and that'll be that." Which wasn't too far off the base. Considering what we've seen out here, those two Tribe runs in the second stanza and one more in the third before Southworth rushed Red Barrett in to the rescue, will have to do for "big" innings until the boys take the field at Municipal Stadium tomorrow afternoon and improve on the target range. I've a hunch the hitters will come to life in the next three games under the more favorable conditions.

And that gets us down to a mighty interesting point. A young kid playing his first full season in the majors has thus far produced the most potent bat of the series. I refer to Larry Doby, who got one of Cleveland's four hits off the impeccable Sain and followed up with two more today. The first Negro in the American League knocked in what amounted to the winning run in the fourth, a liner through the big hole into left center to bust the one-all-deadlock. He had previously larrauped a double into deep center in the second. Boston couldn't find a way of pitching to this brilliant graduate of the Negro league's Newark Eagles until both Barrett and Nels splitter got him swinging on low curves his last two times up.

Doby Cool and Efficient

DOBY'S .375 BATTING clip not only leads all the rest, but accentuates the amazing calm of this kid who seems destined to hit the very highest pinnacles in the baseball business. Larry has good "eyes," and now that the abnormal pressure of being a pioneer against Jimcrow has worn off, you'll find him coolly standing at the plate in that wide-armed stance of his, waiting for the pitch he wants with no more nervous jiggling of the bat. One veteran scribe remarked aloud during the game, "He looks like the best big leaguer in this series." Which is certainly a somewhat premature tribute but you get the idea anyway, the esteem impartial judges have for Doby. He certainly has got it.

There's little doubt that the best ball player to be found on the field is still that pretty hunk of man who shortstops and manages the Tribe. Brother Boudreau, who seems to have a million eyes and directs traffic on every inch of ball field space—still managing to field his own position with uncanny brilliance—finally found his big bat this afternoon.
